The growth of the spirit

Foreword

As another year passes, we pause to study Catholic's achievements throughout the school's existence, culminating in these, the accomplishments of the present student body — the tenth of Norfolk Catholic High School. During the past decade, Norfolk Catholic has tried to instill in its students the highest ideals of Christian living through a truly Catholic education, seeking to infuse in their minds and hearts a sense of love for and duty to God, to their flag, to their neighbor, and to themselves. From its unpretentious beginnings, there have grown up within the walls of our school certain glorious traditions which can neither be denied nor lightly regarded. These customs permeate the curricula and extra-curricula activities and are carried forth by the loyal graduates as a part of their way of life.

NORFOLK CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL Norfolk, Virginia

Sad yet happy, reluctant but anxious, we seniors, the tenth graduating class, leave our beloved Alma Mater with cherished memories of our high school years. It has been for us four years in which we have made many friends, friends with whom we have shared common joys and common sorrows. We shall never forget the dances, the football games, the basketball tournaments. But, most of all, we shall realize that as students of Norfolk Catholic High School, we have been given the opportunity to obtain an excellent secondary education through our own personal endeavors and through the guiding efforts of our principal and the faculty. More important than anything else, however, the graduates of the only Catholic high school in our city know that they have been able to grow in their faith so that they may become strong and fearless leaders of tomorrow. So, with gratitude and fond memories, we shall trace our last year at Norfolk Catholic High School—the completion of a decade.

In the past nine years, the names of Norfolk Catholic High School and of Rev. Gabriel T. Maioriello have become almost synonymous in the minds of the students. Father is primarily an instructor, having taught many different subjects in his tenure, but he has also served as guidance counselor, assistant principal, and, at present, is the esteemed principal and able administrator of Norfolk Catholic. In addition to these many activities, Father Maioriello has in past years found the time to serve as the faculty moderator for the Glee Club, the Journalism Club and the Key Club. Who can ever forget Father's Christmas pageants and the Senior Day productions? Always having been considered a friend of the students, Father in his capacity as our principal has become a strong and wise disciplinarian. We sincerely hope that Father will enjoy many fruitful years in guiding Norfolk Catholic High School to some of its highest peaks.

THE MANNER IS ORDINARY — as Father Maioriello and Father Harrigan plan future strategy over a cup of steaming Maxwell's.

For this we dedicate

With the publication of this annual we bring to a close a decade of progress for Norfolk Catholic High School; and as we open the doors of history on an even more glorious period of prominence for our school, we must remember that the new depends upon the old, just as a house rests secure on a firm foundation.

As one of the chief architects of this foundation we will always remember Reverend Richard J. Burke. During the two years that he was our principal, Father Burke anxiously sought to encourage our intellectual curiosity, to present an interesting curriculum to the student body, to foster school spirit, and, most of all, to have graduate from N.C.H.S. the very best possible examples of well-rounded Catholics. It is to these ends that this fine educator has dedicated his life.

Even now, although no longer principal at Norfolk Catholic, Father Burke is connected with the guidance of all the parochial schools in the Richmond diocese. It is our sincere hope that as Father works in the field of education throughout the diocese, his work will be blessed with the reward of an enviable school system and ideal Catholic school graduates.

through Concentration

Norfolk Catholic in the ten years of its existence has sought to provide for its students, through a curriculum incorporating new ideas and new methods of teaching, all that is essential in the spiritual, intellectual, social and physical development of Catholic young men and women. The Religion Department, through the assistance of parish priests throughout the city, prepares us to meet the challenges of spiritual and moral conduct so evident in our American society today. The departments of English and foreign languages have given us a thorough background in literature and the essentials of the arts of communication. Through our instruction in social studies, we have acquired an adequate knowledge of man's accomplishments and failures. The Business Department prepares us to take our places in clerical and secretarial fields. Our mathematics and science departments have presented invaluable knowledge in this age of sputniks and guided missiles. Through the Physical Education Department, we learn about health and hygiene and engage in a variety of games and sports. It is truly a well-rounded curriculum, capable of achieving its aims—the education of the whole man, so that the student might carry with him into later walks of life the truths which Catholic High has instilled in him.

THE BLESSING AND FIRST PEALING OF THE ANGELUS BELL was the highlight of the visit of Mother Marie DeNoel, the Mother General of the Daughters of Wisdom.

FATHER HARRIGAN HAS HIS SOPHOMORE RELIGION CLASS engrossed in their books, all except Mike Caprio, who appears quite bored with the whole idea of study. Who is Jim Evans slipping that information to?

MONSIGNOR DOZIER CELEBRATES SOLEMN HIGH MASS on the closing day of the annual retreat. Father Dollard and Father Maioriello assist as deacon and subdeacon.

...the fourth R

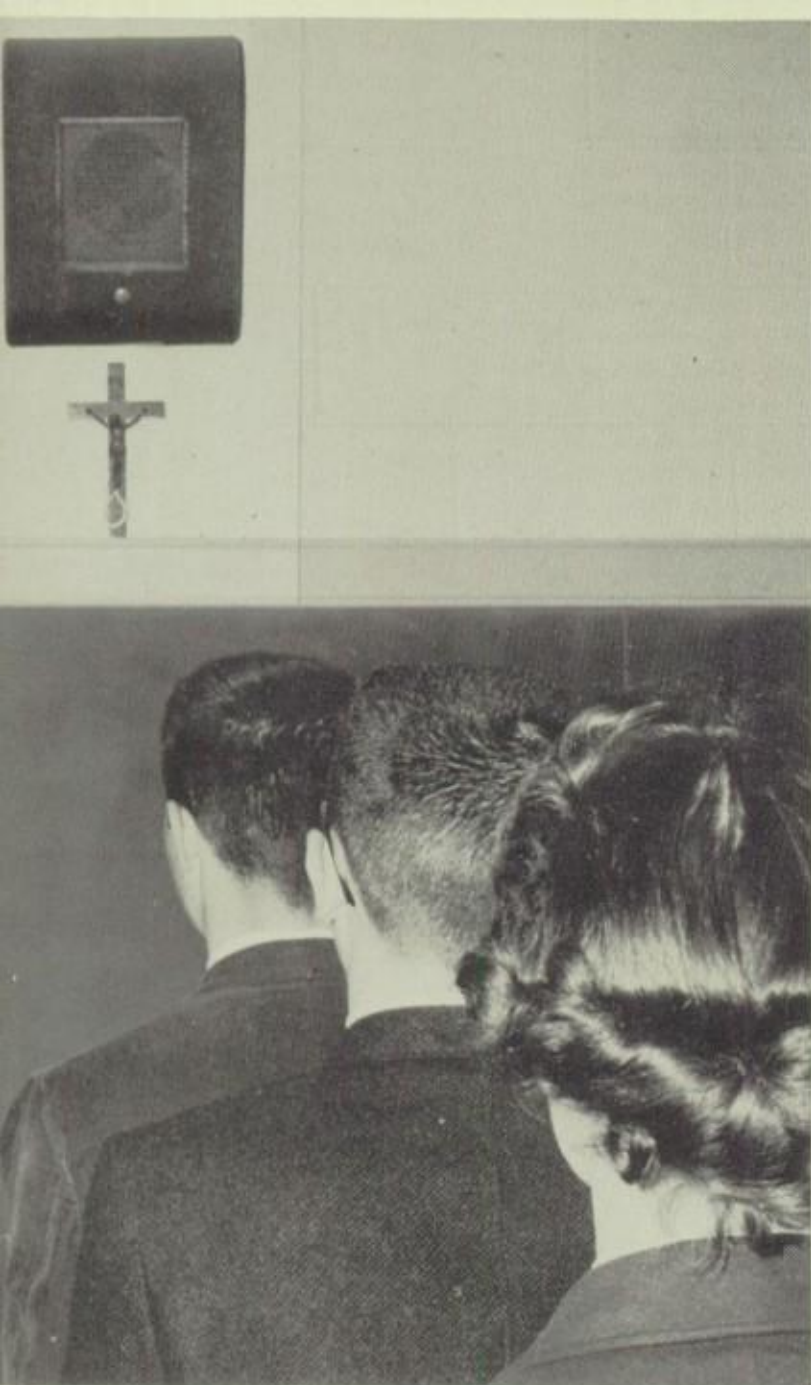

JOSEPH CLARK AND KATHLEEN DONLON DISPLAY A CASUAL AIR as they wait for the decision of the judges in the Vocation Oratorical contest—a decision which sent them to Richmond to compete in the Diocesan contest.

Since 1950, when N.C.H.S. first opened its doors, not only the traditional three R's of American education have been pursued, but also a fourth R for religion joined the rank to assure the total education of every student. POWER, our freshman textbook, dealt with the nature of man and the purpose of human life. The commandments were presented, explained, and discussed in our sophomore book, LOYALTY. GUIDANCE, the junior textbook, helped us master the techniques of apologetics. Summing up the course in our senior year, we discovered in SERVICE the application of all the Christian principles we had learned to our state in life.

However, our religious education does not end in the classroom. We begin and end every school day with prayers recited over the public address system. Every Friday we attend the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and on special occasions, such as Christmas and Easter, we have been privileged to attend Solemn High Mass. During the school year, the students of Norfolk Catholic are united with the liturgy of the Church through devotions such as the October rosary in honor of Mary, the Advent wreath ceremony, the Chair of Unity Octave, and special devotions on First Fridays. Particular emphasis was placed on our spiritual life during a three-day retreat held in Holy Week.

EVERY MORNING, prayers are said TOGETHER

DURING MARCH, THE MONTH OF VOCATIONS, Sister Kathleen Mary's freshman religion class, led by Ann Romeo, conducted a discussion on service in the religious life.

EARNESTLY PONDERING A PARAGRAPH in Hughes' History of the Church, two diligent seniors, Frances Matthews and Don Smith, do research work for their theme papers on the Reformation.

FATHER MAIORIELLO, CELEBRANT, Father Harrigan, deacon, and Father Dollard, subdeacon, in the spirit of the first Christmas, offer Solemn High Mass for the students just before the holidays.

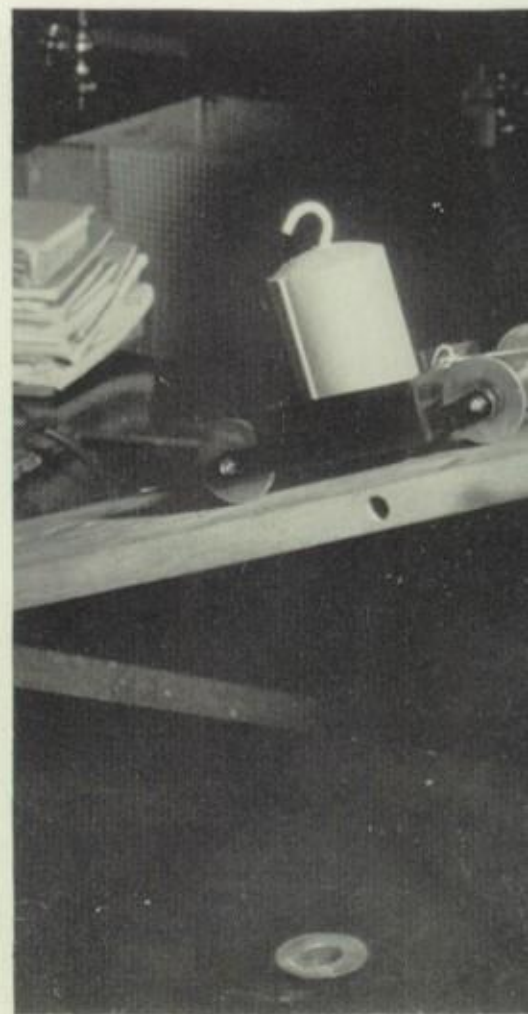

A RARE PRIVILEGE FOR ANY HIGH SCHOOL, but one which we enjoy every First Friday is Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament in our school chapel. Seniors form the Honor Guard changing at fifteen minute intervals.

THE LABORATORY IS A FASCINATING PLACE in which to satisfy the curiosity of men, assuming, of course, that the researchers know what they are doing. In this experiment, Ed Hughes and Doug Brickner seem quite sure of themselves.

THE CONSTANT ACCELERATION of a freely falling body can be easily proven to sceptics in the physical science class.

"GEE, BARRY, HE JUST WASN'T SANFORIZED." Always a popular assignment in biology, the dissection of a frog brings out the artistic touch in many students. Dale White, Anita DeGennaro, Barry Ewald, and Mike Caprio admire their handiwork.

The world of science looks forward to a new decade of progress. Man is on the threshold of new and fertile fields of experiments to complete a century of the greatest and most unbelievable accomplishments in the field of physics, chemistry and medicine. N.C.H.S. is playing its part in the building of the minds of the scientists of tomorrow. Keeping up with the ever-changing pace of modern science, we have recently introduced more advanced science classes with modern textbooks and equipment. One example of this is our new biology and physical science lab. As we look back over our ten years we can see progress, and in the future as in the past, the promise of scientific progress at N.C.H.S. is a promise for the future of America.

TO KEEP PACE WITH ADVANCED SCIENTIFIC TECHNOLOGY, the library has added many new texts in an effort to keep the student body well informed. Fran Matthews, Jack Bellis, Florence Young and Ernie Coppola take advantage of the latest materials, probably doing research for extra credit.

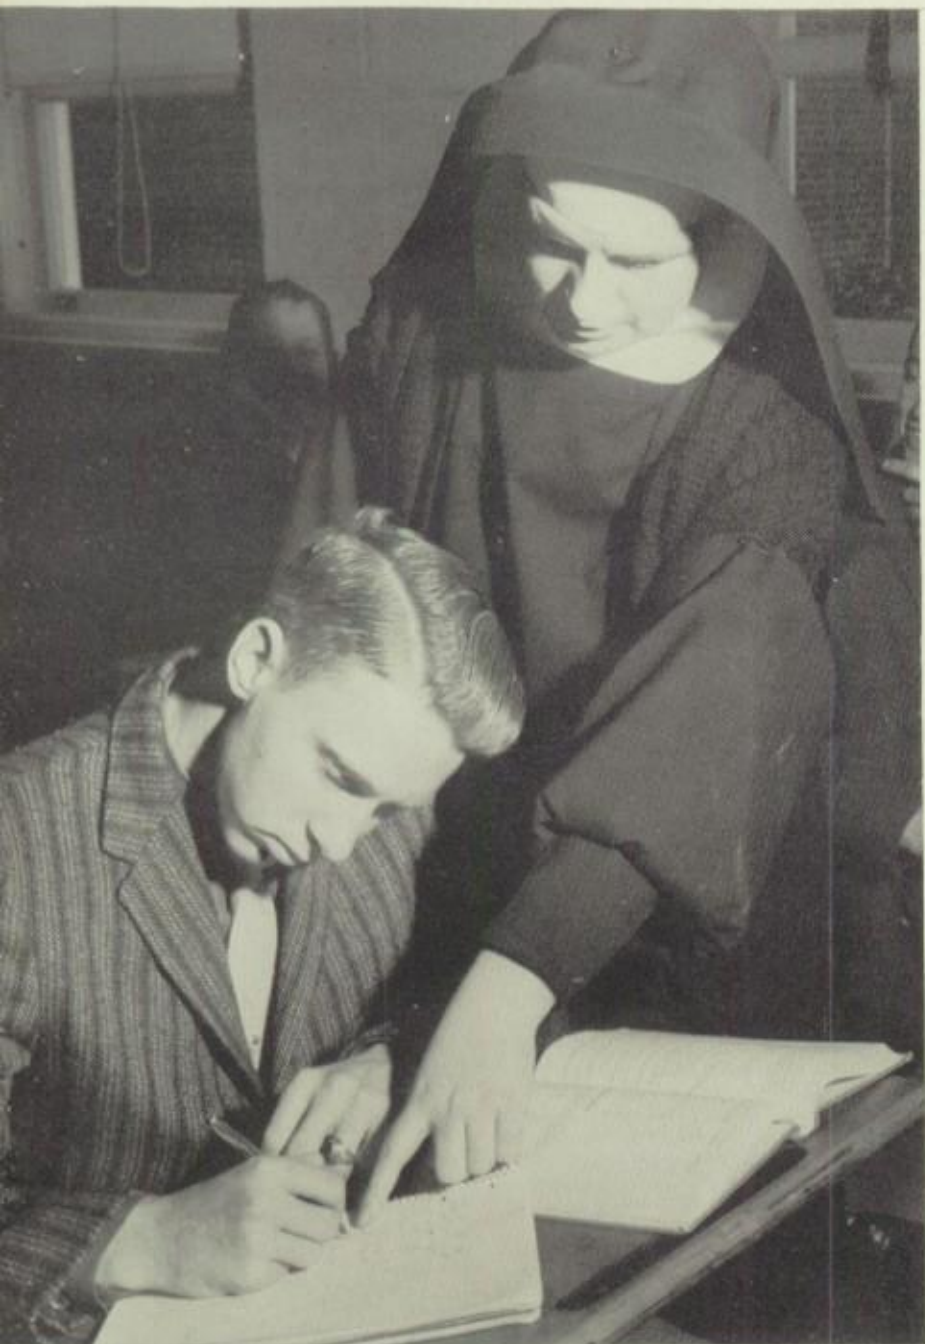

SISTER MONTFORT'S TWO LAB ASSISTANTS, Anthony Pototski and Glenn Boone, are carefully preparing for the day's lab experiment. Precision and economy must be exercised in this operation.

THE NEW AQUARIUM in Sister Dolores' biology lab provides a new source of fascination for Raymond Smith and Virginia Coppola.

"THIS MUST BE THE PLACE." Terry Fowler and John McLaughlin demonstrate the proper method for determining a point on a graph, when given the co-ordinates.

MILTON WHITSON WORKS STEADILY on his Algebra II assignment while Sister Gerard explains a difficult problem.

In this world of atomic power, more and more emphasis has necessarily been placed upon the study of mathematics. In keeping up to date, Norfolk Catholic High School has adopted an extensive mathematical curriculum. As Freshmen we are introduced to Algebra 1, as Sophomores to geometry, as Juniors to Algebra II, and finally as Seniors to trigonometry, probability, and solid geometry. For students with other interests, courses in consumer's math and mechanical drawing are offered. With such an extensive curriculum, the interested student will be amply equipped to go on to more advanced studies.

ALL EYES AND THOUGHTS ARE CONCENTRATED on Sister Gerard as she attempts to recall the next step in the problem on the board of her consumer's math class.

NOW IT EVEN TAKES TWO to draw a circle. Bill Davidson and John McLaughlin are really preparing a proof for geometry class.

OUR FUTURE ARCHITECTS Larry Arrington, Bill Alexander, and Roy Cutler look on as Charlie Fleetwood stresses modern design of the ship on the drawing table. Now all they have to do is master mechanical drawing.

The science of numbers

THIS EXAMPLE OF GROUP STUDY was abandoned when the instructor arrived. Perhaps the new experimental math course is just too much for our heroes, Leonard Ballback, Gerard Zoby, and Tommy Decker.

ANITA ZINKL AND ED HUGHES attack the never-ending job of writing for the Crusader, as Sister Marie Maguerite stands ready to correct any errors.

Learning to communicate

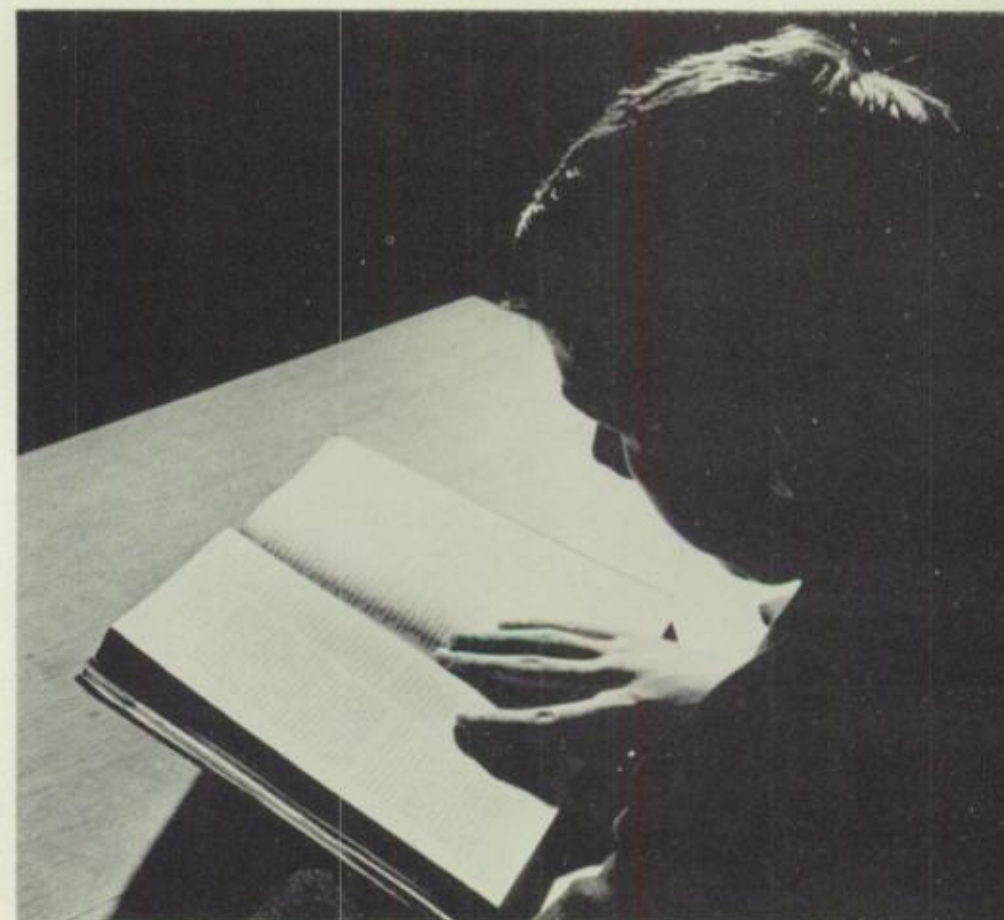

DILIGENTLY WORKING on a discussion of short stories for the P.T.A. meeting sponsored by the English department, sophomores Pattie Magee, Mary Denise Damiano, Suzann Wilson, and Jane Bellis find the library an enormous help.

JOHN HARNLY AND JIMMY CURTIN frequently make use of current magazines in writing their editorials for the Defensor.

AS THESE INDUSTRIOUS JUNIORS attack their next English assignment, Morgan Trimyer finds the presence of Mr. McIntosh most intriguing.

COMPLETELY ABSORBED IN HIS READING, Billy Alexander attempts to finish his nineteen senior required books.

MR. CACALANO SEEMS PLEASED as freshman, Dolores Gould, entertains her classmates with the techniques she has learned in public speaking.

SENORITA ANN GUIDA GETS HELP from Joe Madeo as she tries to wait on Roy Cutler, Kathy Emerson, John Harnly, and Marianne Maccioli at "La Paloma."

BRENDA BARTEK AND KEITH NICHOLS relay some everyday Spanish I activities to the P.T.A. Que paso Keith? Dio Brenda que no vaya en una cita con Ud?

JACK BELLIS AS JULIUS CAESAR questions the soothsayer who warns him, "Beware the Ides of March," in the advanced Latin group's portion of the P.T.A. program.

...in a small world

ROGER "JUPITER" ELLIOT CALLS FOR HIS THUNDERBOLTS as Frank Conlon "shakes in his boots."

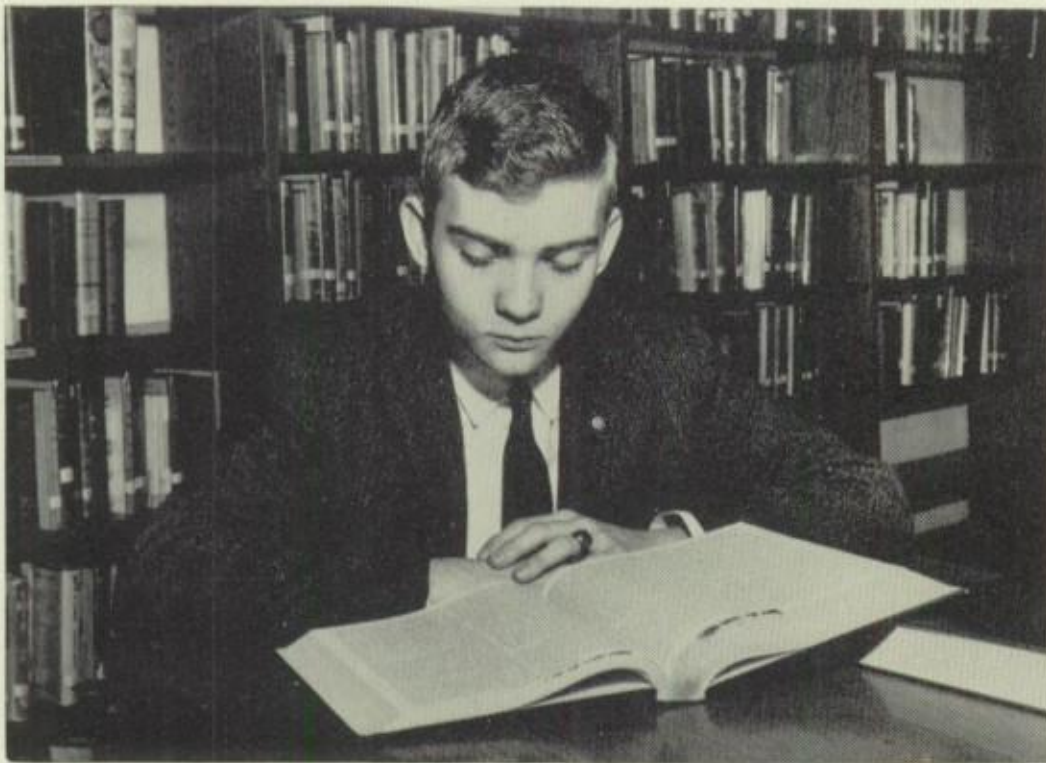

JOHN TUCKER WITH HIS OMNI-PRESENT HUMOR opened the program at the P.T.A. meeting sponsored by the Language Department.

CATHERINE LEPOUTRE, AN EXCHANGE STUDENT FROM FRANCE, aids Sr. Thomasina by taping her voice to be used in our French classes. Catherine doesn't even have any difficulty pronouncing those foreign words.

Everyday the world is growing smaller and smaller due to recent developments in the fields of transportation and communication. Although these advances are laudable, they also pose many problems, especially in the exchange of ideas with our neighbors across the seas. In view of these facts, Norfolk Catholic has attempted to provide a language department which will aid the student in facing the problems of this era. Ever since the school opened its doors in 1950, it has offered two-year courses in Latin, Spanish, and French. But as more emphasis has been placed upon the study of foreign languages, N.C.H.S. has enlarged its language department until today a student may take four years of Latin and three years of Spanish and French.

EDWARD RAFFETTO, A FRIEND OF THE ENCYCLOPEDIA, is absorbed in his constitutional essay for which he won the city contest. "We, the people of the United States,"

LAST MINUTE COACHING BY SISTER FRANCES MARGARET for the Voice of Democracy contest was successful, for Marie Reine Thatcher won the school, city, and state contests.

DONNING A WINNING SMILE are these Civil Defense Contest winners: Barbara Fernandez, honorable mention; Eileen Metheny, second place winner; Marilyn Merritt, first place winner; Scott Blankenship, honorable mention; and Sheila Alvarez, third place winner.

THESE PEOPLE WERE THE STRONGLY DETERMINED SUPPORTERS of Democracy in the school contest. Waiting for their turn are Joseph Clark, Barbara McDermott, George Scherban, and Patrick Caton, while Dorothy Muehlbauer is entertaining the faculty and student body with her essay.

The Social Studies Department at Norfolk Catholic High School is a most influential factor in the curriculum of the students since all must satisfy the graduation requirements of American history and government. In these courses the students are not only presented with facts, but also with the Catholic approach to problems in government and social life. These viewpoints will be invaluable supports to future Catholic leaders and also aid in forming opinions on current issues. The classes are enhanced by student reports and talks, discussions, and student participation in local and national contests. This year Norfolk Catholic has been very successful in contests on such topics as "I Speak for Democracy," and "Civil Defense, An American Tradition," as well as the American Legion's oratorical contest on the U. S. Constitution. The help, rendered the contestants in particular and all the students in general, will be long appreciated.

An Approach to problems

A VARIETY OF EXPRESSIONS fails to clearly reveal the genuine interest usually shown in Sister Francis Rose's government class, as Judy Tytus is called upon to comment on the discussion.

THE BUSINESS CLUB PRESIDENT, CECILIA VENUTO, ably assisted by vice-president, Tommye Anne Damiano, and secretary-treasurer, Juanita Lynch, carried the club through another successful year.

JULIE SELUGA, SHARON LUKINOVICH, ARLENE CAMERON, AND MARTHA BLACKBURN are happily receiving from Cecilia Venuto their cash awards for selling the most chances in the Business club raffle.

DOUG BRICKNER AND SCOTT BLANKENSHIP are firing questions at Mr. Dye, a typing expert from Hawaii, in an effort to distract him from his copy.

IN A RECENT TOUR to the Naval Supply Center, some members of the Business Club are being shown the finished product of a very intricate photographic machine.

Reflect their training

MISS NANCY SPURR, A BUSINESS GRADUATE from Norfolk Catholic in 1953, returned to speak to the Business Club at a buffet dinner given during National Secretary Week to honor business graduates of the past ten years.

From the opening day of Norfolk Catholic High in September, 1950, one of the most important departments of the school has been the Business Department. Of course, the main purpose of this department is the education of those desiring to enter the business world as typists or stenographers. During the course of this instruction, however, the department performs much of the office work of the school. This enables the student to acquaint herself with the various duties of a typist or secretary.

Another function of the department is the operation of the Business Club. The junior and senior students of the business department are the members of this club, whose main project is the publication of the student directory. The profit realized from this and other smaller projects goes toward the purchasing of a business machine for the department each year. Two of the electric typewriters and the comptometer were obtained in this way.

The excellent business instruction the students receive in this department and the experience acquired through membership in the Business Club are a credit to Norfolk Catholic High. The success of our past graduates in the business world is a living reflection of this excellent training.

Developing Strong Bodies For Strong Minds

PART OF THE PROGRAM undertaken by the Physical Education Department is the training of young bodies in the ancient Roman sport of wrestling. Here Coach Jones gives a few pointers to Martin Teeuwen and Joey Caprio.

MR. SOUTH REFUSES TO FACE THE CAMERA as he increases the knowledge of the freshmen during health class. Just what is a clavicle anyway?

School spirit is a most precious and yet entirely intangible feeling that permeates the entire school body. It has as its foundation a balanced curriculum, enjoyable and useful extra-curricular activities, and especially a student's pride, both in himself and in his school.

To develop a well-rounded personality in the individual student, a school must offer a good selection of clubs with membership open to all who can qualify. In belonging to these worthwhile organizations and through active participation in them, a student can develop an inner feeling of "belonging", a spirit of comradeship with the other members all united for a common purpose. Each member, if he takes that membership seriously, learns to give of his time and efforts for the betterment of the club while, at the same time, deriving many benefits from this wholehearted participation. Not the least of these benefits is an opportunity to develop one's talents and skills and to demonstrate their existence to others.

Ten years ago Dianne Standing and the members of her staff edited the first Crusader. Since that time our yearbook has gained recognition on several occasions. Among others, the Crusader has been honored by three first place certificates from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and two All-Catholic awards from the Catholic School Press Association. In contrast with previous years, the present staff has grown to twenty-nine members. The enlarged and enthusiastic organization is determined that this yearbook will be the best in Norfolk Catholic's history. In view of the support of the student body, the inspiration of our moderator, and the cooperation among the staff members, we expect to accomplish this aim.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING, and you are there. Frances Matthews, editor, and Sister Marie Marguerite, moderator, decide where the color picture of the school will go.

KATHY EMERSON, MARIANNE MACCIOLI, MARY CAROL GREGORY, AND JOANNE CROCKETT are supposedly arranging senior pictures, but they're really "checking" all the many good-looking boys at Catholic High.

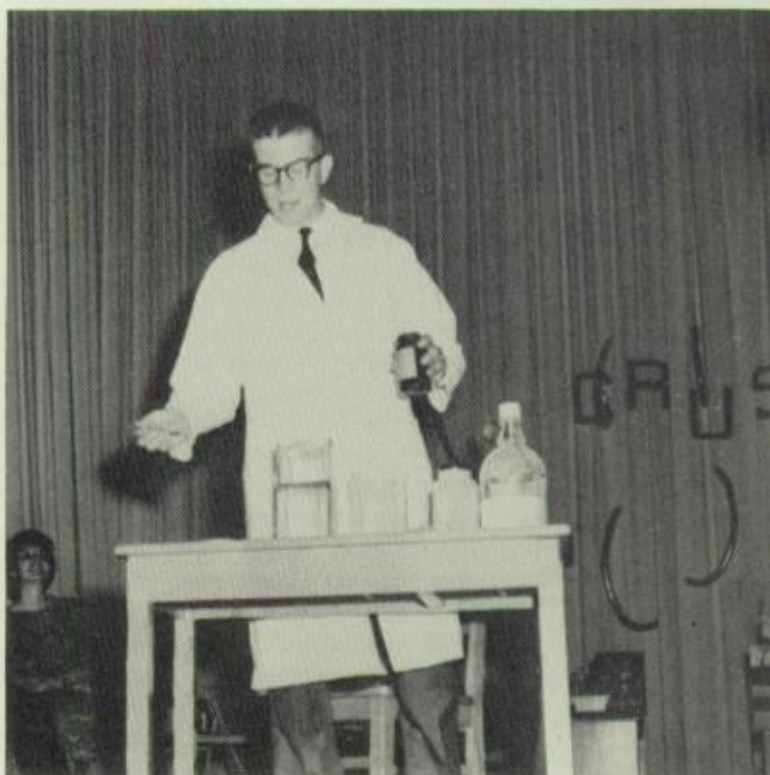

CECILIA VENUTO is not wearing the regulation belt which has nothing to do with her and Janice Lustig's typing work on the '60 Crusader.

JUST LOOK AT OUR YEARBOOK and you'll realize the brand of "shutter bugs" Dick Barry and Tom Wood have been.

AMATEUR HOUR AT NORFOLK CATHOLIC as Spike Bruno and Warren (Mr. Crusader) Christie share the spotlight at the kick-off of the year-book drive.

"HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE THIS work in your stomach?" Jimmy Oliver's wit is evident in this parody of a T.V. commercial for the '60 Crusader assembly.

JEANNE MURPHY, JULIE SELUGA, MARY JO ZONTINI, AND MARTHA BLACKBURN help "rake in the dough" and arrange the ads for the '60 Crusader while Sister Montfort polices them.

Through the past ten years at Norfolk Catholic High, as all things have grown in strength and forcefulness, so too, has the N.C.H.S. Press, functioning under the auspices of the Journalism Club. Each editor-in-chief, following in a clear path set down by the first co-editors, Joan Byrnes and Robert Wilmoth, has done a full time job in keeping the wheels of the newspaper turning. This year the Defensor displays ten years of experience and an all time high in craftsmanship. The capable editor-in-chief, Edward Raffetto, uses a professional and virile technique as he turns out the issues. He is backed by a large staff and a capable instructor and moderator, Mr. Joseph Fitzpatrick. Besides the Defensor, the staff also compiles a monthly school calendar of events. Catholic High is proud of their Journalism Club, not only for turning out this newspaper but also for forming a good outline of tomorrow's journalists.

EDWARD RAFFETTO PAUSES to give the Crusader press camera his most serious "we've got to meet the deadline" look.

EDWARD, MUST YOU SPEAK SO HARSHLY to Scott Blankenship? He only suggested that we have four sports pages in the next issue.

JAMES OLIVER READS his "Sport's Shots" while James Curtin criticizes with the editorial touch.

MR. FITZPATRICK, THE CLUB MODERATOR, points out some new ways to liven up the editorials to the page two editors Norah Ross, Cynjo Sever, and John McLaughlin.

PAT SULLIVAN AND NORA FENN again conclude that page one is the most striking; of course it is—the printing is upside down.

Intellectu

IN THE LIBRARY WORKROOM, Don Smith, Dorita Woodson, Anita Zinkl, Pat Heaton, Marilyn Semuta, and Arlene Jocelyn are gathering back issues of magazines to provide information for the senior term papers and any research papers the students are working on.

The library at N.C.H.S. is the intellectual workshop of the school. It is in constant use, and behind the scenes, keeping it in good working condition is the Library Council. This is a club, which with the help of the moderator, Sister Ruth, performs all the duties of a librarian, such as checking books in and out and assisting a bewildered student in finding required reading. Much has been accomplished by past leaders in this field of service to the school. Presidents such as Rosemary McQuade 1951, Marilyn Van Ells 1955, Evelyn Seluga 1958, and this year's president, Jerilyn Zinser, have contributed their time and ideas in making the library as it is today. The Council not only helps the students, but tries to improve the library itself. Through the years, projects, such as a raffle to purchase a set of counter shelvings and the redecoration of books with plastic-kleer covers, have been a big success. Every Thanksgiving the members bring food to fill a basket for a worthy poor family, and this Christmas a large box of colorfully wrapped toys was donated to children less fortunate than ourselves. Although it is no longer our largest major club, the Library Council's efficiency and value have not decreased.

HUNDREDS OF BOOKS PASS OVER THIS DESK each week from the hands of Library Council members Madelline Post, Jerilyn Zinser and Jacqueline Meadows.

PART OF THE VAST PLAN undertaken by the Library Council is keeping the library bulletin boards colorful and interesting. Charlotte Atkinson, Margie French, and Maria Teeuwen are adding the finishing touches to their Catholic Press Month masterpiece.

OFTEN KNOWN AS THE HEART OF THE LIBRARY, the card catalogue is constantly being checked by Library Council members, Virginia Cubilla, Edith Anderson, and Betty Whitson.

MANY ARTICLES DEPEND on the student's use of the vertical file, which holds many different kinds of pamphlets. Cathy Unger, Carolyn Zinser, and Anne M. Daily show us how to use this important piece of equipment found in the library.

AN ATMOSPHERE OF RELAXATION predominates in the library's cozy corner as Martha Holly and Kathleen Harrell select their favorite recordings while Cecelia Hogan and Dorothy Muehlbauer make plans for college.

THE "REFERENCE CORNER" is by far the most popular corner in the library and therefore demands constant attention from Library Council members, Dorothy Muehlbauer, Cathy Bertoglia, Mary Denise Damiano, and Virginia Cubilla.

AT THE END OF THE SCHOOL DAY, you can often find the moderator, Sister Ruth, the Library Council president, Jerilyn Zinser, and vice-president, Maria Teeuwen, working on one of their many projects. Now they are collecting the homeroom envelopes for the magazine drive.

THE TREMENDOUS DEMANDS of the student body keep Library Council members Cathy Ward, Jackie ter Brake, Iva Summers, Richard Stevenson, Kenneth Reddy, Frances Wysocki, and Winnie Shreve, constantly filling the magazine rack with new magazines.

An army of youth

The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade is one of Norfolk Catholic's largest clubs, comprising almost the entire student body. The nominal dues have never been too much for the students, who actively participate in many C.S.M.C. activities. Through its threefold program of prayer, study, and sacrifice, the club seeks to encourage a mission spirit that will permeate the school. The C.S.M.C. will probably be best remembered for its many assembly mission movies, its mission contest, and, most of all, its annual bazaar at which the students have the opportunity of contributing to the missions as well as of enjoying a good time. All endeavors were a success through the combined efforts of the nationally-affiliated organization's two moderators, Sister Thomasina and Sister Thomas Margaret, and the officers and homeroom representatives.

THE MOST TASTEFULLY DECORATED BOOTH attracted scores of N.C.H.S. gamblers; they gave the wheel of fortune the prize "for bringing in the most money."

Mary Carol Gregory and Mary Lou Ullrich are eye witnesses to Jimmy Haskett's vase-smashing crime just before a Legion of Mary meeting.

IT DOESN'T LOOK AS IF THE AFRICAN MISSIONS will ever get these magazines because Frances Matthews, Maria Teeuween, Marianne Maccoli, and Jerilyn Zinser just can't stop reading them.

A legion for Mary

"NOW LOOK HERE, YOU GUYS . . ." The all-male rostrum of officers Paul Giles, treasurer, Ed Hughes, president, Charles Moyer, Vice President and Robert Upton, secretary, give the word on activities for '60.

A HANDSHAKE AND A CONGRATULATORY WORD from Father Maioriello endorse Ed Hughes as President of the C.S.M.C.

WHY IS IT that people always smile when they handle money? Dorita Woodson, Marianne Maccioli and Mary Ann Vanderploeg, officers of the Catholic Action Club are mad with power as they count the Bishop's Relief money.

SISTER MARY ANNE, MODERATOR of the Catholic Action Club assists Mary Carol Gregory in drawing a poster for the club's annual Bishop's Relief Fund Drive.

Louder than words

"Actions speak louder than words" — and that is exactly how the Catholic Action Club operates. By showing movies and conducting drives throughout the school year, this club provides the drive behind the money-making activities of N.C.H.S. In the past ten years, the Catholic Action Club has undertaken and carried out its many projects with enthusiasm and determination. This year the club showed, among others, the movie "Miracle of Marcelina", sending the proceeds to the ever-needy missions. Under the auspices of the Catholic Action Club, the Bishop's Relief Fund reached its goals. The pamphlet rack just outside the chapel door is also one of the club's projects. Booklets of special interest to our students are selected by the members, who hope that the reading matter will give some inspiration and help to those interested.

EVERY YEAR the Catholic Action Club presents gifts to St. Mary's Home. Working on this year's project are members Rosemary O'Brien, Gail Brown and Margaret Rosensteel.

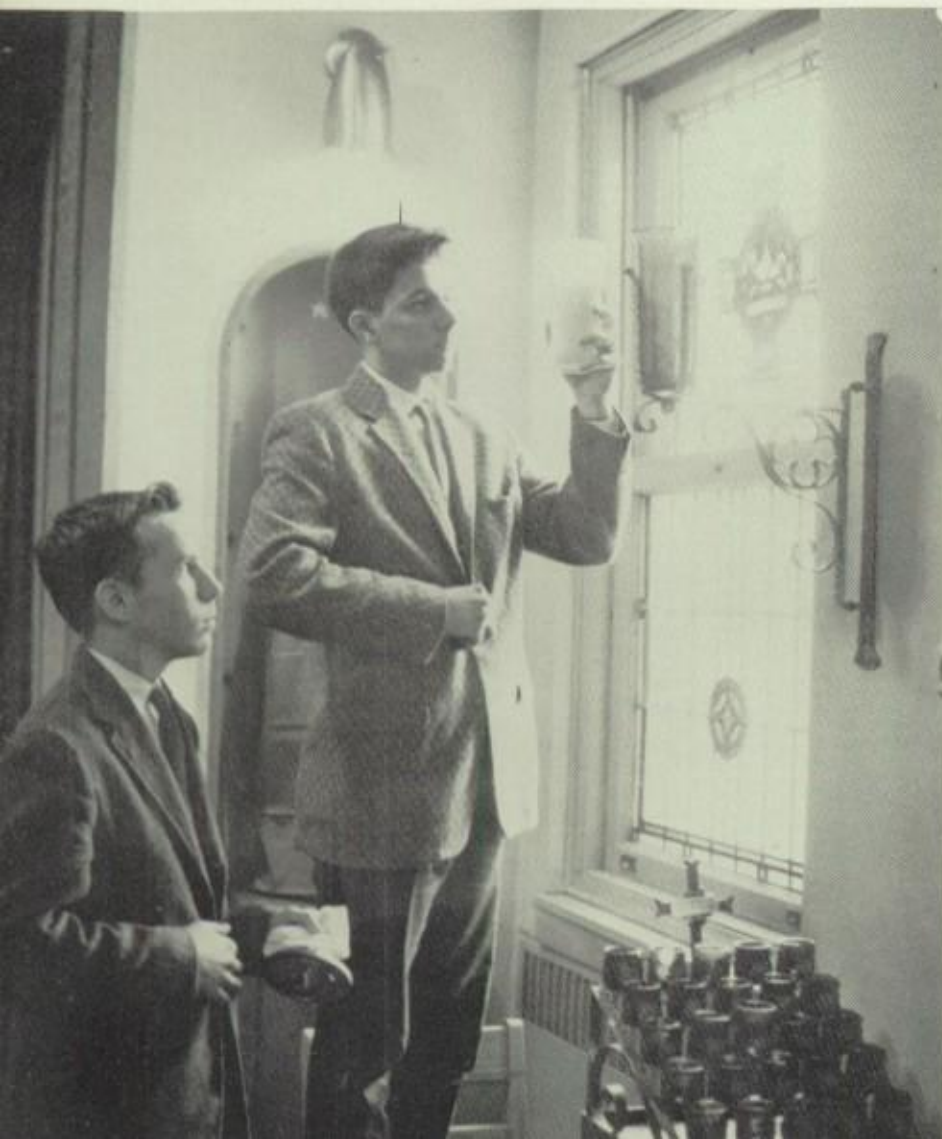

WHILE MARY DEE MARSH SUPERVISES the operation, Eileen De Gennaro and Charlotte Atkinson clean out the censor.

Although we rarely see its members at work, there is such a club as the Sanctuary Society. Ever since its beginning in 1953, the club has functioned for such duties as keeping the chapel in order, preparing for the Masses held here at N.C.H.S., washing and ironing vestments, and seeing that the holy water fonts are filled. The duties of the club members have always been directed by the various moderators. Sister Damien Marie, C.S.C., as newcomer to N.C.H.S.'s faculty this year, took the club's helm like a veteran. Before her were Mother Austin, O.S.F., the first moderator, and Sister Rita Carmel, C.S.C. As each moderator assumed her duties, an able staff of officers was ready to assist her in whatever way they could. But let us not forget the club's members. Each one, throughout the years, has done his share to help in the Sanctuary Society's service to the school.

THE FUTURE TEACHERS of Norfolk Catholic strike up a pose for the camera before adjourning one of their many instructive meetings.

Learning

The Future Nurses' Club has functioned for only six years of our school's first decade. Since its genesis at Norfolk Catholic, it has strived to prepare its members for a career in nursing. The preparatory activities include weekly hall duties performed at DePaul Hospital, monthly visits to the City Home, and courses in first aid and home nursing. Besides their nursing projects, the Future Nurses have donated their time, talent, and efforts to several charitable ends. At Thanksgiving they gave a food basket to one of the poor families in our community. They gathered toys and clothing for the needy in the spirit of Christmas. And, in order to finance these numerous activities, the Club sponsored a taste-tempting cake sale.

Vim, Vigor

In the year 1950 Norfolk Catholic High School saw its first cheerleading squad headed by Eileen Gunn and Jerry Tebault. This year, a decade and ten squads later, Norfolk Catholic still has an enthusiastic and precisioned group of leaders. The present co-captains are Joann Romeo and Nandy Rissotto, who led a squad chosen by the student body. The girls have worked hard to live up to the school's demands and expectations. Through victory or defeat, the cheerleaders loyally support their teams, first at the pep rallies preceding each game and, of course, at the games themselves. On the evening of the Catholic Vs. Maury game the cheerleaders gave a spirited bonfire pep rally as a send-off cheer for the players. The 1959-1960 season frequently took the dynamic cheerleaders far from home base. Arlington, Hampton, Newport News, and Richmond are just a few of the traveled-to areas. And the squad, no matter where the games led them, displayed the vim, vigor, and untiring spirit so characteristic of N.C.H.S., climaxing the season at the unforgettable Catholic State Tournament.

SISTER FRANCIS ROSE, C.S.C., proved indefatigable as the days for rehearsal grew fewer and fewer.

The purpose of a dramatic club is to entertain, to bring a story of make-believe alive on the stage for an audience to enjoy. Over the ten years the Catholic High Jesters have done this very successfully. RIDDLE ME RICHES was the first play produced by the Jesters. This comedy was the beginning of a series of outstanding productions that were to make the Dramatic Club one of the school's best clubs. In 1953 Sister Mary Anne, OSF moderator, directed the cast in an excellent production of MURDER IN THE NUNNERY. After this play, Sister M. Francis Rose, C.S.C., was to take over the position of moderator and assist in the staging of many exceptional plays, among them ANNE OF GREEN GABLES in 1957 and this year, a Christmas play, THE KING'S JONGLEUR.

MARY LIZ MULQUEEN, SECRETARY; TOMMYE ANNE DAMIANO, PRESIDENT; and Connie Keane, Veep, are happy that they have led the N.C.H.S. Dramatic Club through another successful year.

Their motto is

Through the role it has played during the five years of its existence, the Key Club has lived up to its motto—SERVICE. The spirit of service instilled in 1955 by its first president, Don Sullivan, has shown itself continually in the succeeding years and is carried on today by its fifth president Gerard Zoby. The Key Club at N.C.H.S., an affiliate of the Kiwanis International, a well-known organization active in Civic affairs, has unlimited opportunities (which they have met) for service. The greatest part of their attention is focused, of course, on the school in such projects as polishing trophies, painting lab desks, refinishing gym floor, providing student buses to games, selling drinks and pennants at games and other useful projects. Another of its outstanding activities is the awarding of a scholarship to a worthy student in the graduating class.

STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT LEONARD BALLBACK has the plaudits of the entire school for a completely successful term of office.

A CHARMING AND EFFICIENT VICE PRESIDENT, Anita Zinkl was all to all who needed her during the year. To her goes the credit of a successful Career Day.

AMONG THE OUTSTANDING STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS are Bobby Matthews who was the head of the Maintenance Committee, Frances Wysocki, chairman of the Servant Day Program, James McGroarty and Gerard Zoby, representatives to the Youth Week of the City of Norfolk, and James Zadell who was the Student Council's delegate to the state convention.

A NEW HAND BOOK OF PROCEDURES supervised by Student Council Moderator, Father Harrigan, is being prepared by the Council under the direction of Sharon Lukinovich and Patrick Caton.

"GADS, WHAT A BORE," sulks James Curtin, as he is ordered by his FRIENDLY master Mike Burke to get two more trays for lunch.

"HERE, TAKE THE WHOLE LOCKER FULL," says Charles Fleetwood as he loads down his "slave for a day," James Manning.

In the pursuit of harmony

TOM WOOD, THE SECRETARY-TREASURER of the Student Council, sets up the hi-fi set which was donated to the school by the Student Council.

The Student Council of Norfolk Catholic serves as the master link of the school. Coupling the faculty and students, it pursues the requisite harmony. At Norfolk Catholic in 1960 the Student Council paved a path of least resistance between the two factions. It was a blissful campaign.

Besides the usual chores of the Council, novelty took a role in this year's works. At the outset of the school year, the Council sponsored "parent night" and showed eager parents through a typical school "day". Christmas tide was celebrated with the annual Student Council dance. Admission was by a food donation which the Council forwarded to the Little Sisters of the Poor in Richmond. The cafeteria, in 1960, took on a new look—one of cleanliness as under the Student Council's guidance and the students' cooperation, a cafeteria system was formed. Finally, the Student Council members drew up a handbook of rules and procedures. Add these projects to the Councils' moderation and vigilance; mix well, and you have the efficient Student Council of Norfolk Catholic for 1960.

BUSILY PREPARING FOR THE HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION, members Susan Warrell, Kathy Emerson, and James Manning adjust the candelabra, while Anita Zinkl and Anna Claire Oberg arrange the dais representing character, leadership, scholarship, and service. Frances Matthews, a little nervous before the assembly, brushes up on the fine points of her speech.

"PLEASE, PLEASE, DON'T EAT THE DAISIES." Leonard Ballback and James McGroarty, our budding horticulturists, cautiously smell the flowers in their decorative arrangement just before the assembly.

Membership in the Meehan Chapter of the National Honor Society, from the time of its foundation in 1955 with six charter members until the present, is the greatest honor that can come to a Catholic High student. Chosen from the Junior and the Senior classes, all candidates must possess an over-all average of ninety per cent or better, must have exhibited outstanding qualities of leadership and character, and must have participated actively in two major clubs. During this year's ceremony, witnessed by their proud parents, fourteen seniors and five juniors were called from the audience to be inducted into the society. After having donned their robes and having recited their pledge, the new members lit the symbolic flame and signed the register. All are students who worked very diligently for this honor and of whom we have every right to be proud.

HAPPY CHAOS REIGNS as the members of the Honor Society help the slightly trembling, but very happy, newly inducted members with their robes.

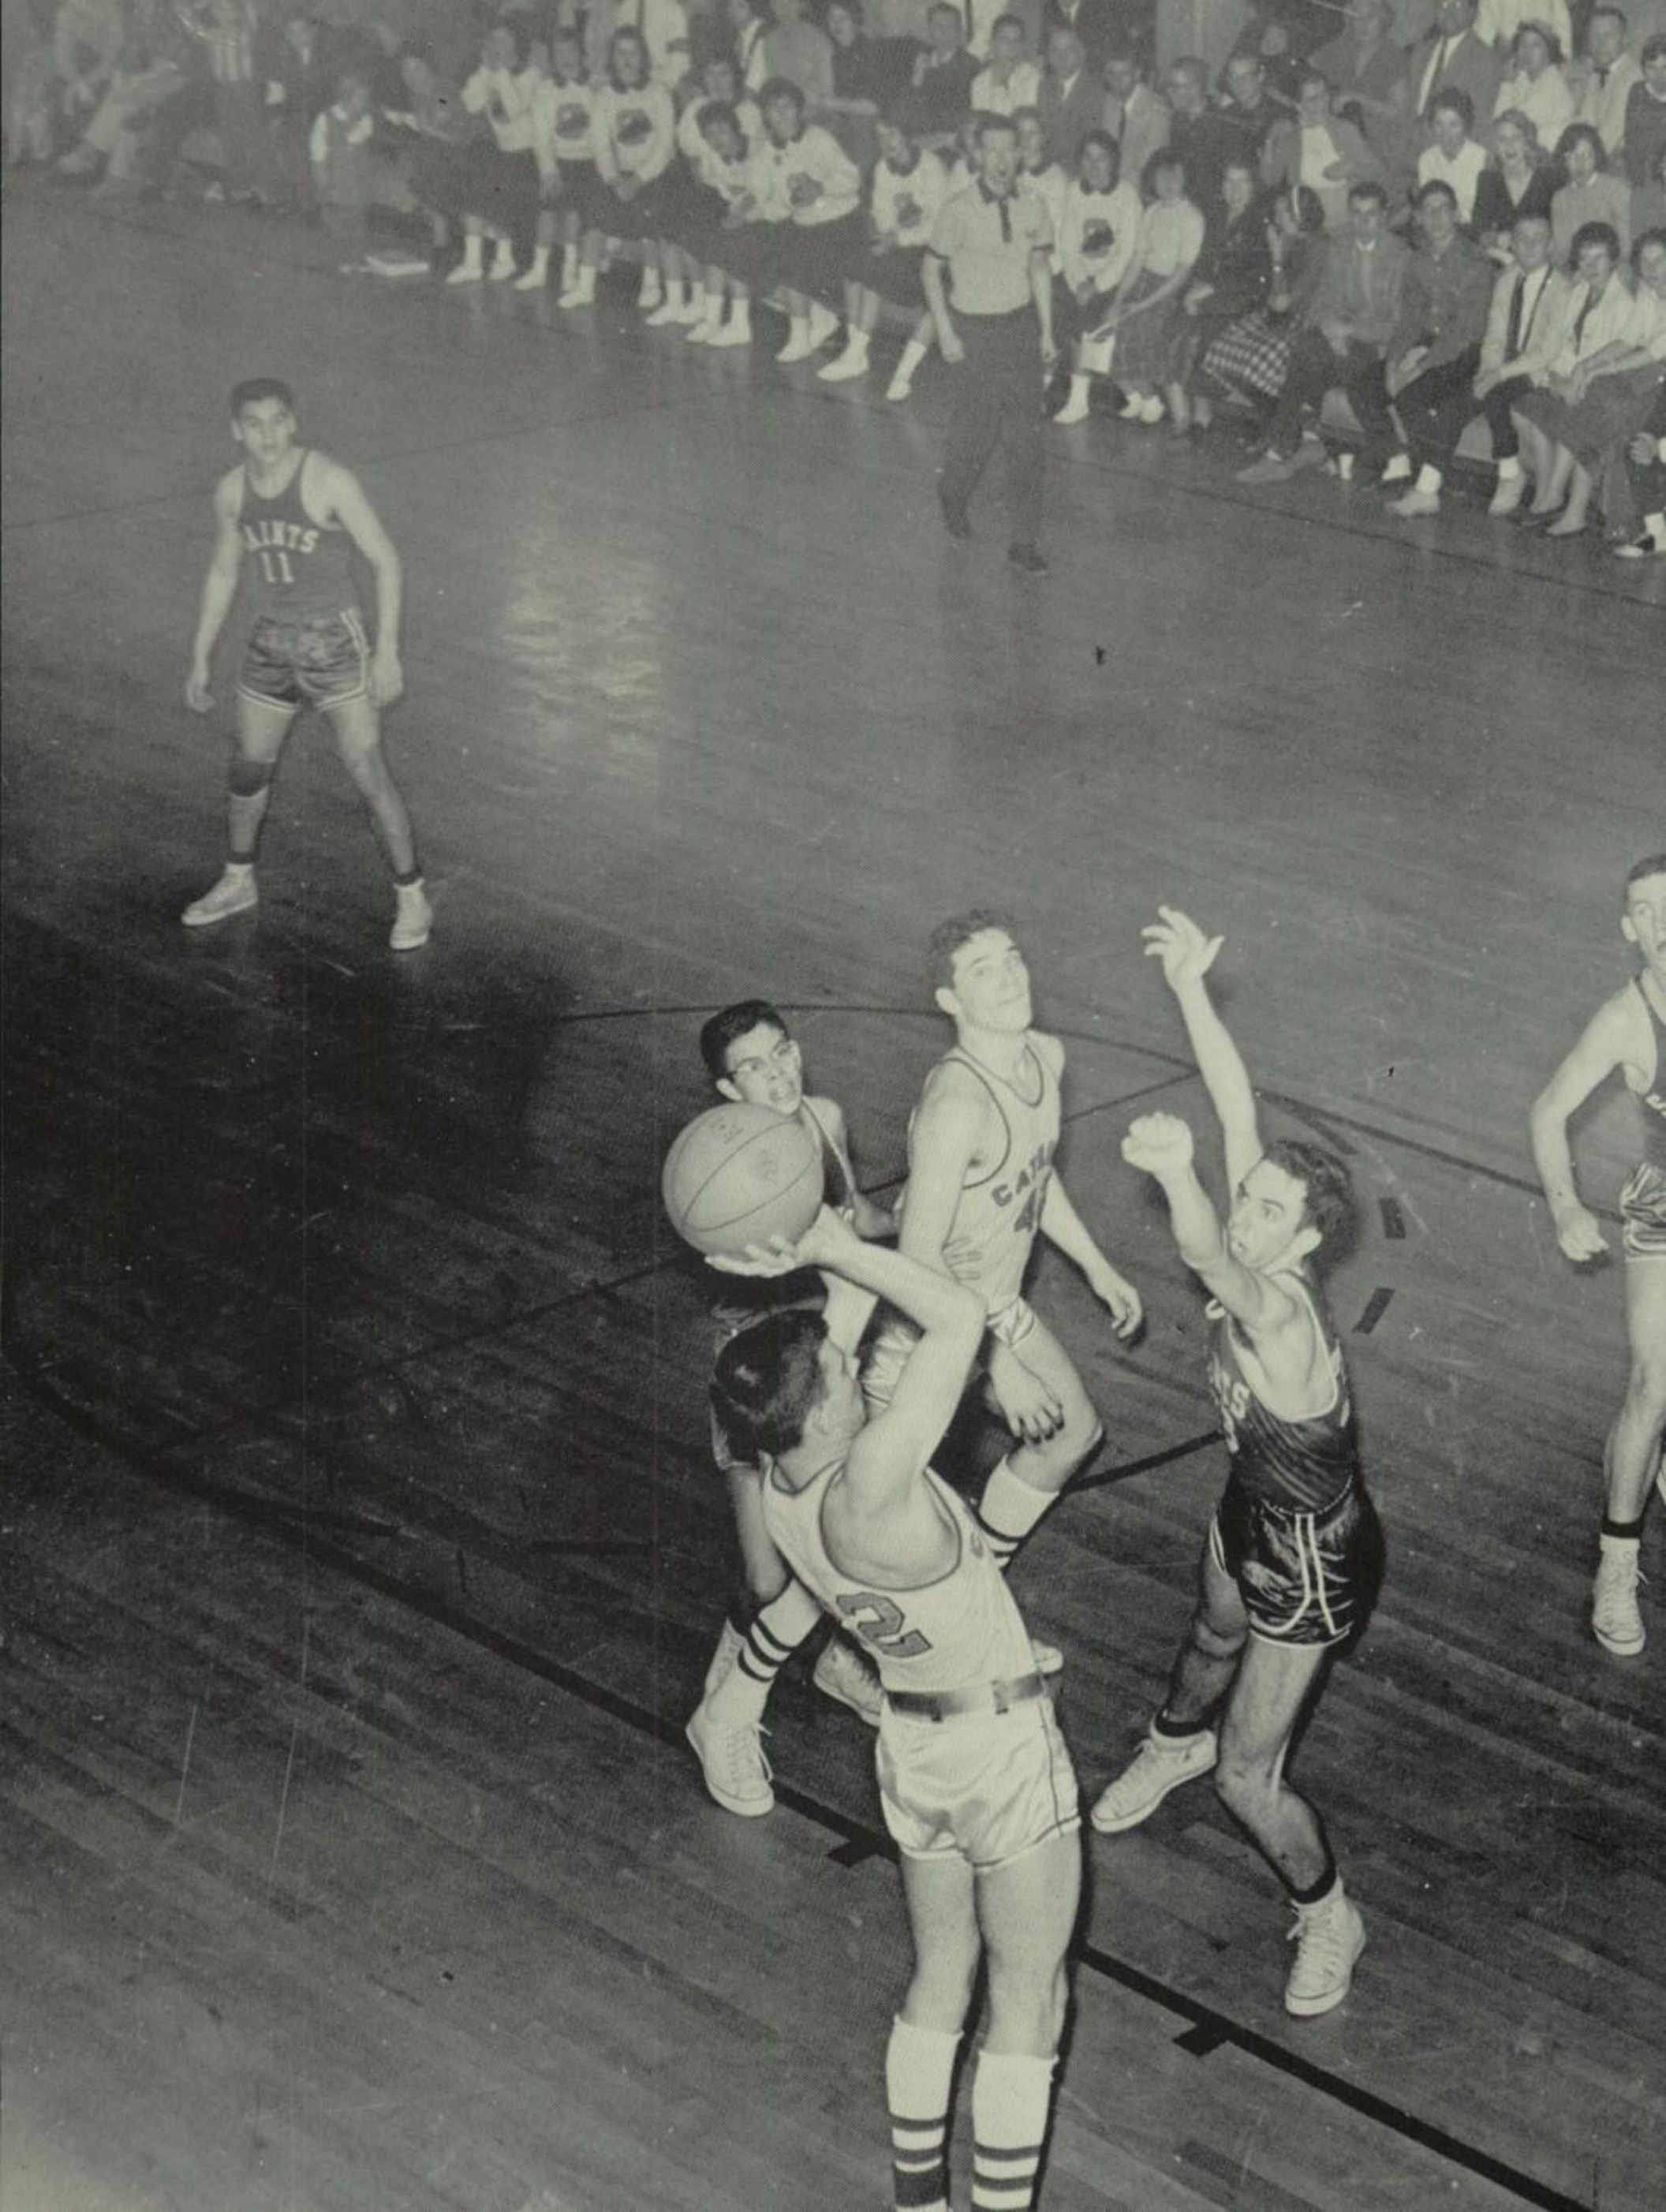

Aiming high

SANDRA CONNELL, A NEWLY INDUCTED MEMBER of the Honor Society, signs the register. Ernest Coppola and Warren Christie await their turn.

AT THE CLIMAX OF THE ASSEMBLY, the newly inducted members of the Meehan Chapter place their candles with the torch of truth, the symbol of the National Honor Society.

through Competition

A well-developed athletic program is an important element of school life. Here at Norfolk Catholic High School we have tried to offer as many diverse sports as are practicable, in order that all students may participate, either actively or passively, to whatever extent they may desire. This year Catholic High has inaugurated a wrestling team to go along with the already established football, basketball, baseball, and track teams.

Participation in these contests helps to foster within the players a spirit of teamwork and mutual cooperation, and yet to promote reliance upon one's own ability. We believe that membership on these teams has helped the education of our athletes and made a contribution to their preparation for life. Including not only physical training but training in discipline and self-denial.

Our athletic program has also made a fine contribution to our school spirit. In every school, athletics serve as a rallying point for school spirit, and we feel that our program has contributed to a sense of school loyalty among all our students and has made them proud and happy to belong to Norfolk Catholic High School.

Catholic	54	St. Paul	45
Catholic	38	Benedictine	37

PRECISION AT ITS FINEST as John Galloway, the artist, slices through for two more for the Crusaders. Pete Keilty provides a well-positioned pick in the Crusader's rout of the Cadets from Benedictine.

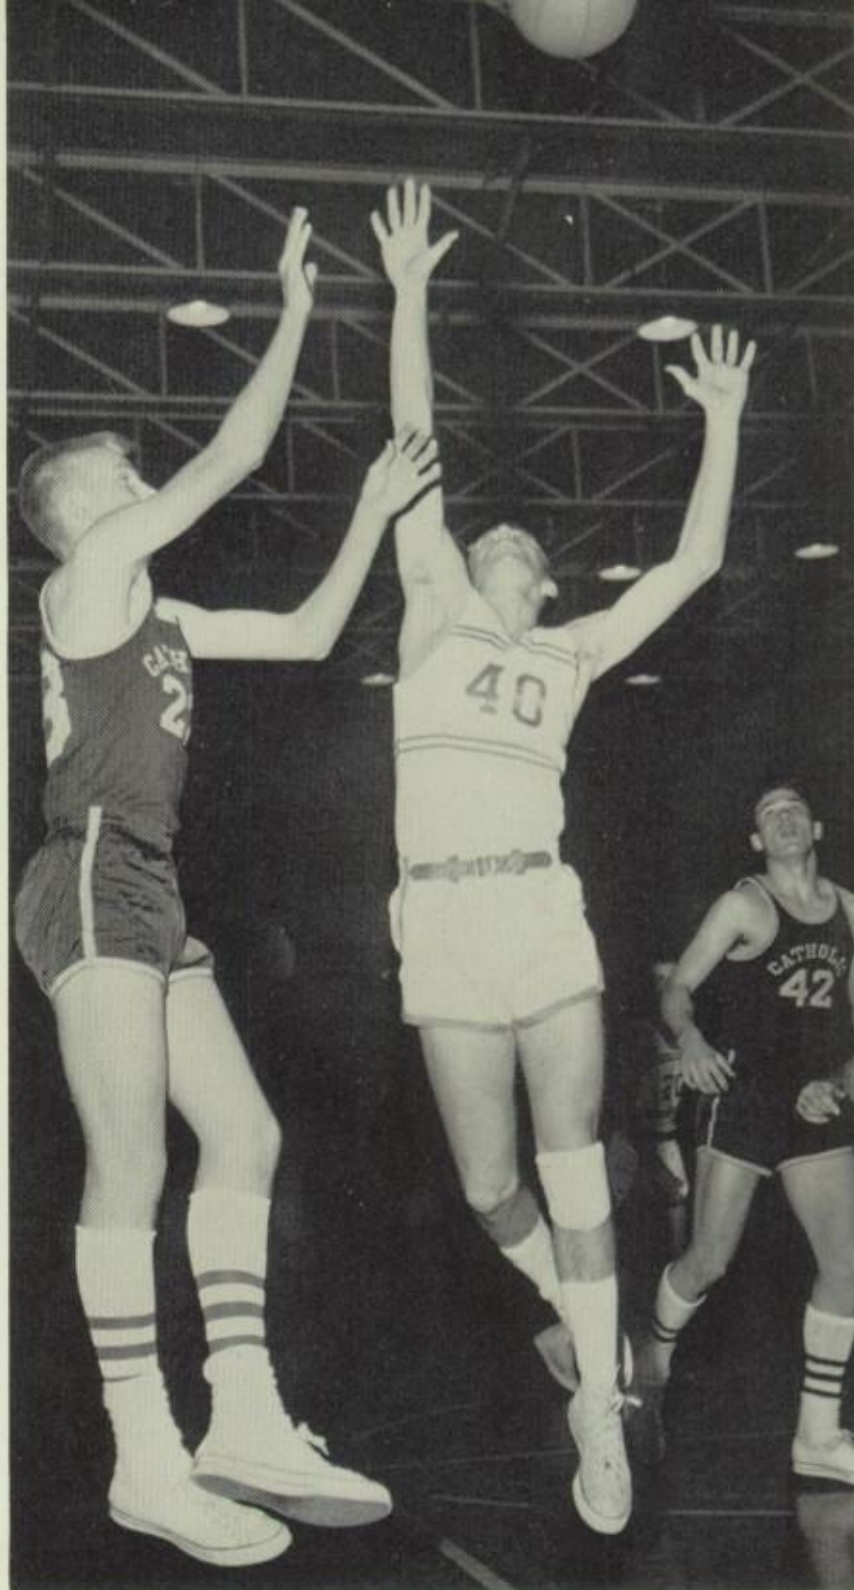

"OH NO, NOT AGAIN," murmur the on-looking Benedictine Cadets while Mile Roland lays up two tallies for the boys from N.C.H.S.

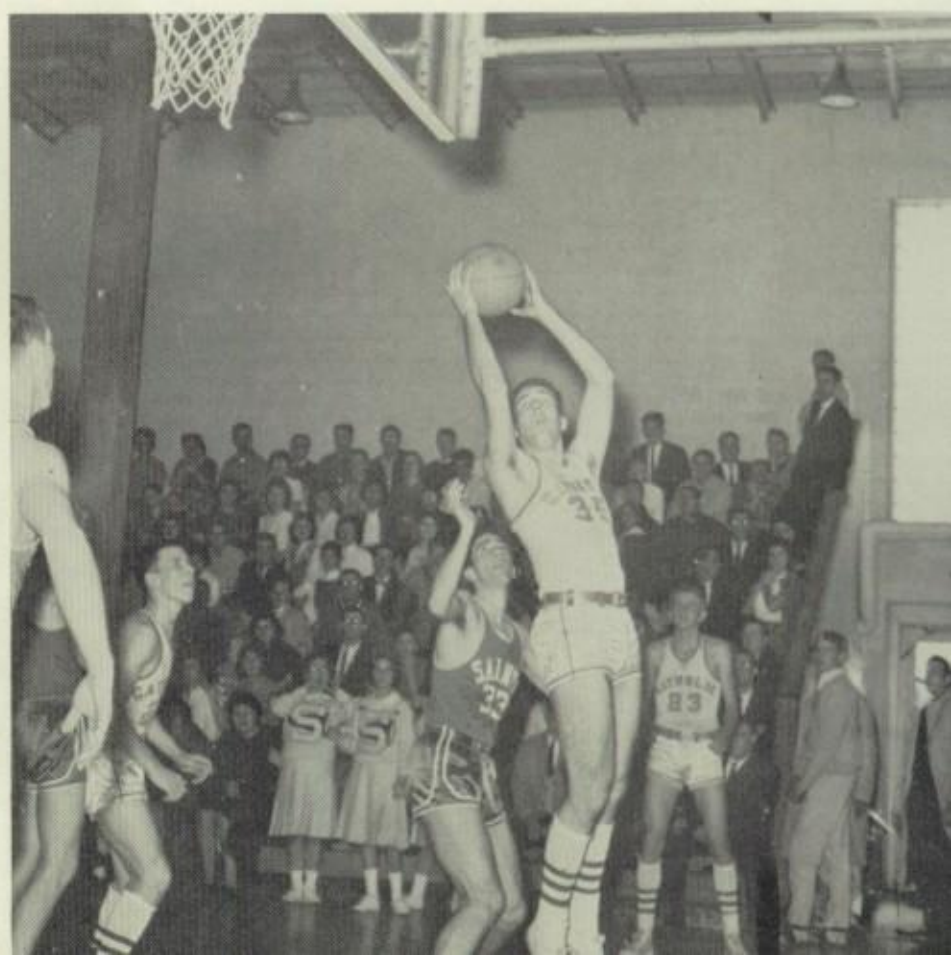

FINESSE BECOMES REALITY with another basket by John "look-at-me" Galloway. The discontented Norfolk Academy crowd most anxiously await the culmination of the shot.

ANXIETY REIGNS SUPREME, as Mike Morris drives for two in the climactic St. Paul's game. The Crusaders pulverized their Portsmouth foes in this contest by a 51 to 38 count.

"ABRA CA DABRA, DON'T GO IN." One of Norfolk Academy's bulldog's resorts to magic after an unsuccessful attempt to block Bruce Howard's jump shot. The Crusaders neutralized their black magic, though, with a magnificent display of basketball abilities in their 67 to 50 rout of their "up-the-street" foes.

"BOO!" COUNTERS A BENEDICTINE CADET in a superb defensive movement as Bruce Howard tallies for the Crusaders. Bruce led the team in an unheralded effort all season long.

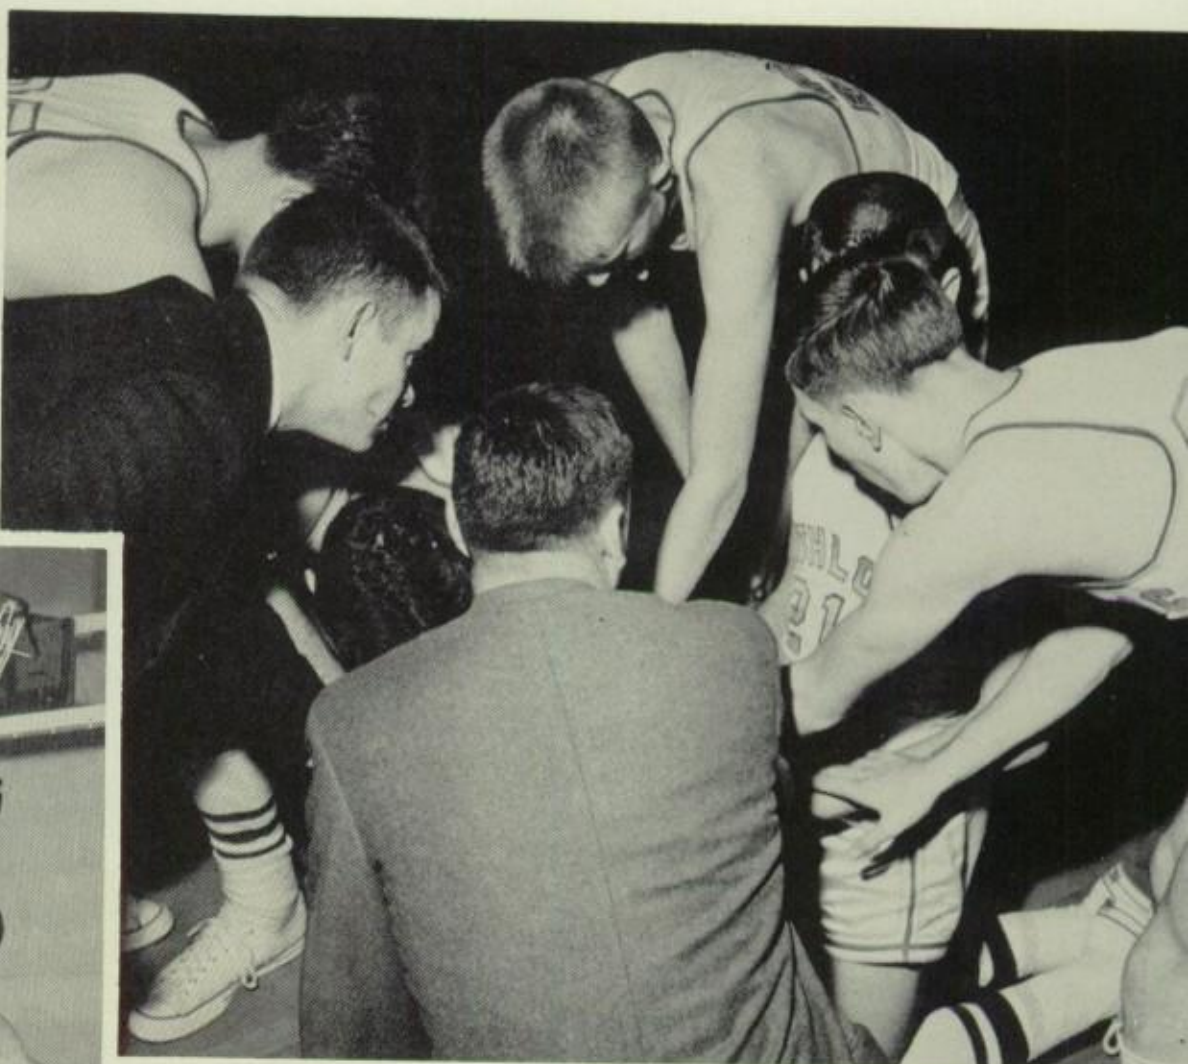

"CATHOLIC, CATHOLIC, THEY'RE SO FINE," right Mary Lou? The spirit of the school, the cheerleaders, illustrate their abilities at one of the N.C.H.S. home games. Their endless efforts spurred the partisans of N.C.H.S. to one victory after another.

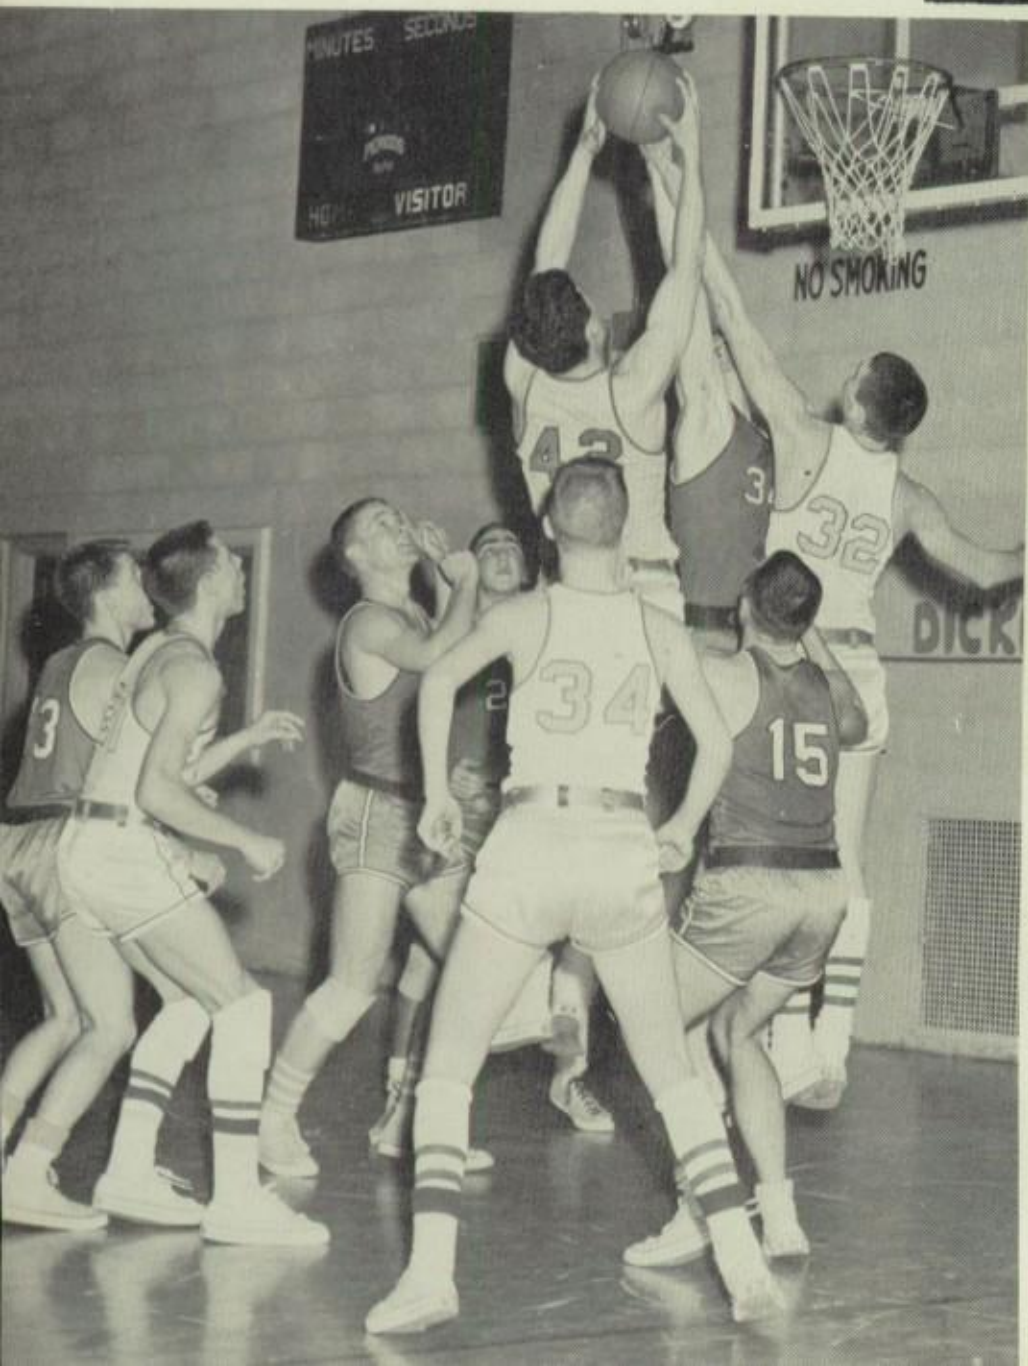

"UPSIE DAISY!" retorts Bruce Howard as Dickie Fraim finishes a Norfolk Catholic fast break with a perfect layup in the Norfolk Academy game. Dickie, the Crusaders' captain, was the floor general and "generosity" kid of the team.

"SORT OF A HIGH TOSS, UH, REF?" quips All-Stater Mike Morris as he controls the tap for the "Hourihan Henchmen" in the Benedictine game. Mike was a big factor in the Crusaders' championship drive. Bruce Howard (23) and John Galloway (22) calculate the risks.

THE MIGHTY CRUSADERS convocate around Coach Hourihan and Coach South for a brief, but ardent prayer. It was Coach Hourihan and Coach South's efforts which gave the Norfolk Catholic Squad its momentum.

"EXCUSE ME, BOYS", retorts All-Stater Mike Roland while towering above all opposition in this rebounding effort in the second Norfolk Academy game. "Baby Huey" Roland excelled for the Norfolk team throughout the season, especially noted for his rebounding prowess. Dickie Fraim (21), Richard Grissom (34) and Pete Keilty (32) all position for the bounce of the ball.

THE NORFOLK CATHOLIC CRUSADERETTES complemented the tenth anniversary of the school by taking first place in the State Catholic Basketball Tournament. They also set a precedent as this was the first championship trophy for the Catholic High girls' team. In the final game of this tournament, Catholic High slipped by tough Cathedral High School of Richmond with a score of 51 to 48. This victory was no real surprise, for the Crusaderettes had only one loss in a terrific season of 21 games. Nevertheless, the successful season and the championship were well-deserved rewards for the team's continuous effort coupled with a real desire to win.

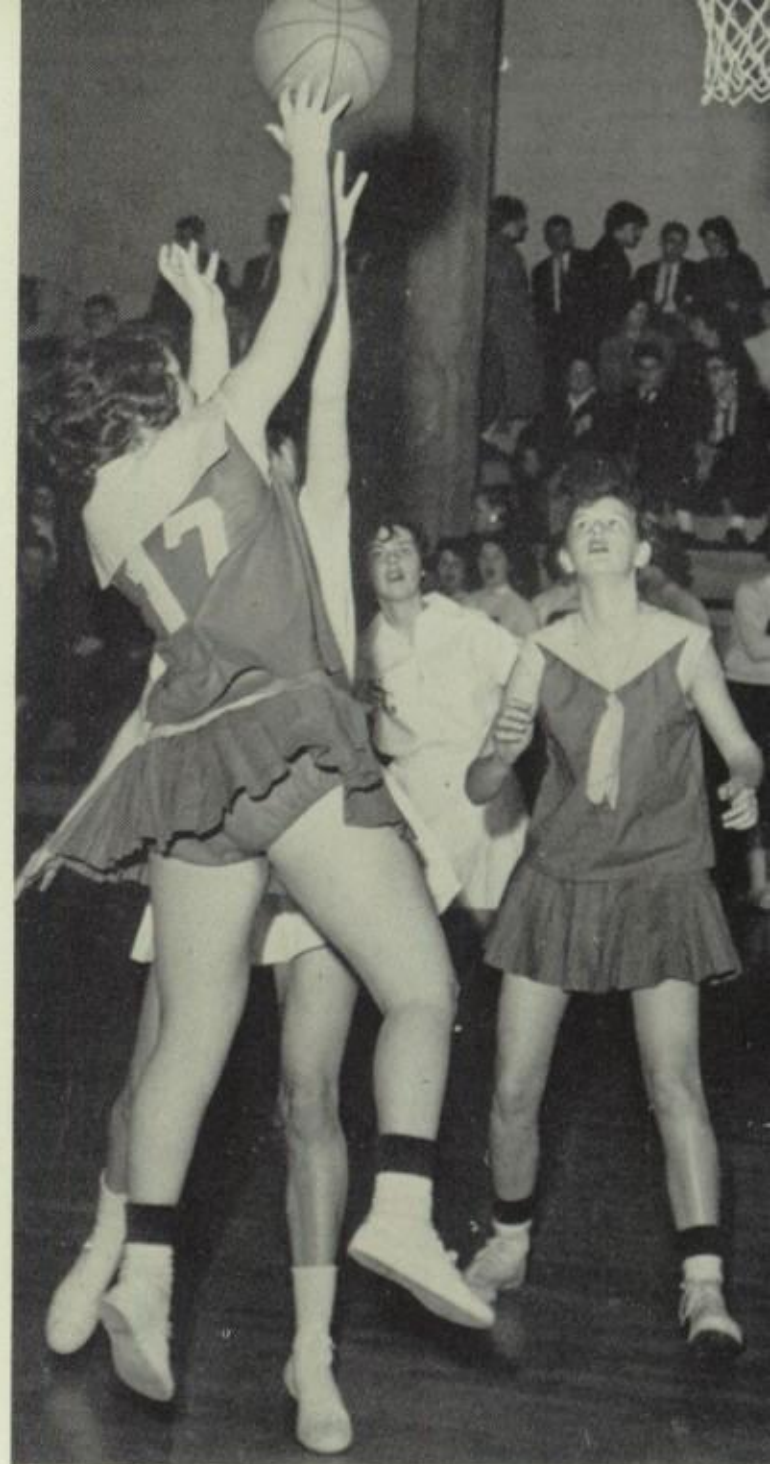

ALL EYES ON THE BASKET! Julie Seluga challenges her guard for a rebound in an easy win over Marymount of Arlington.

GAIL PELUSO AND JULIE SELUGA WORK the usually successful "cut and pass" play as Mary Jo Scullion moves in for another two points against St. Gertrude's.

MRS. FITZPATRICK SMILES WITH THE CONFIDENCE OF A COACH during a time out. It looks as if the team needed some reassuring advice during the break.

THE DEFENSIVE ACTIONS OF ST. GERTRUDE'S is no match for Gail Peluso and Eugenia Fedorowicz.

MARY ANN VANDERPLOEG TRIES DESPERATELY to grab that rebound from the Marymount forward while Mary Jo White moves in to the rescue.

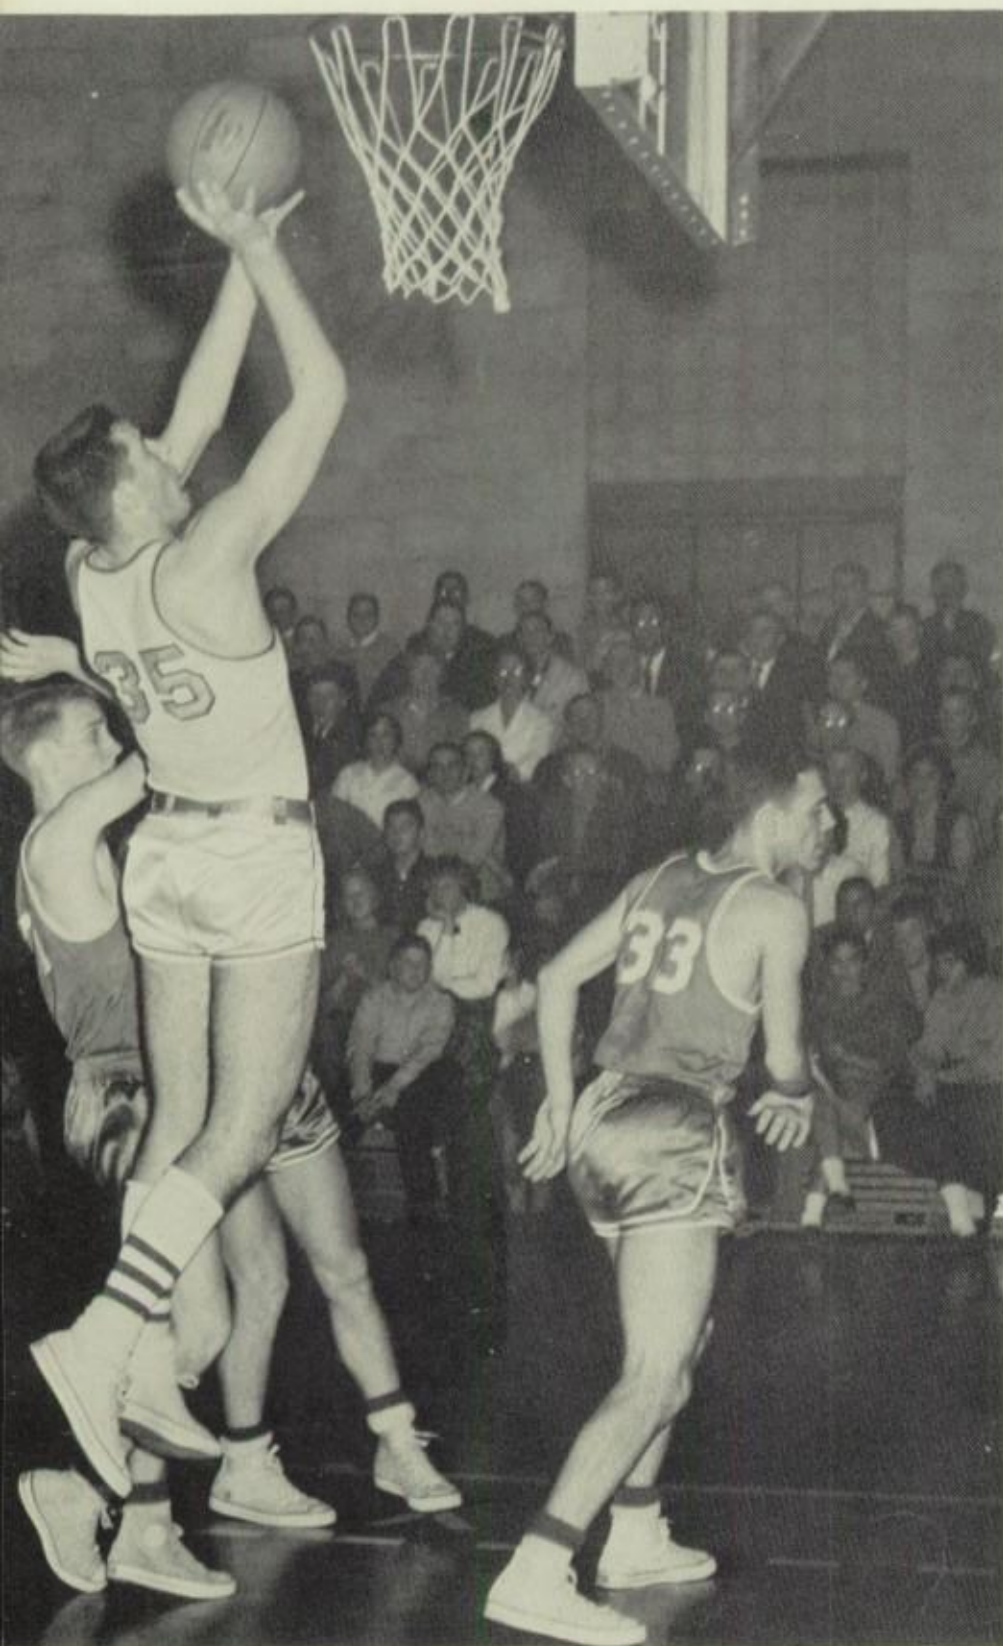

GAIL PELUSO TOSSES THE BALL to add two points to Catholic's victory over St. Gertrude's.

AN EASY TWO for the Crusaders against their Portsmouth rival, St. Paul's.

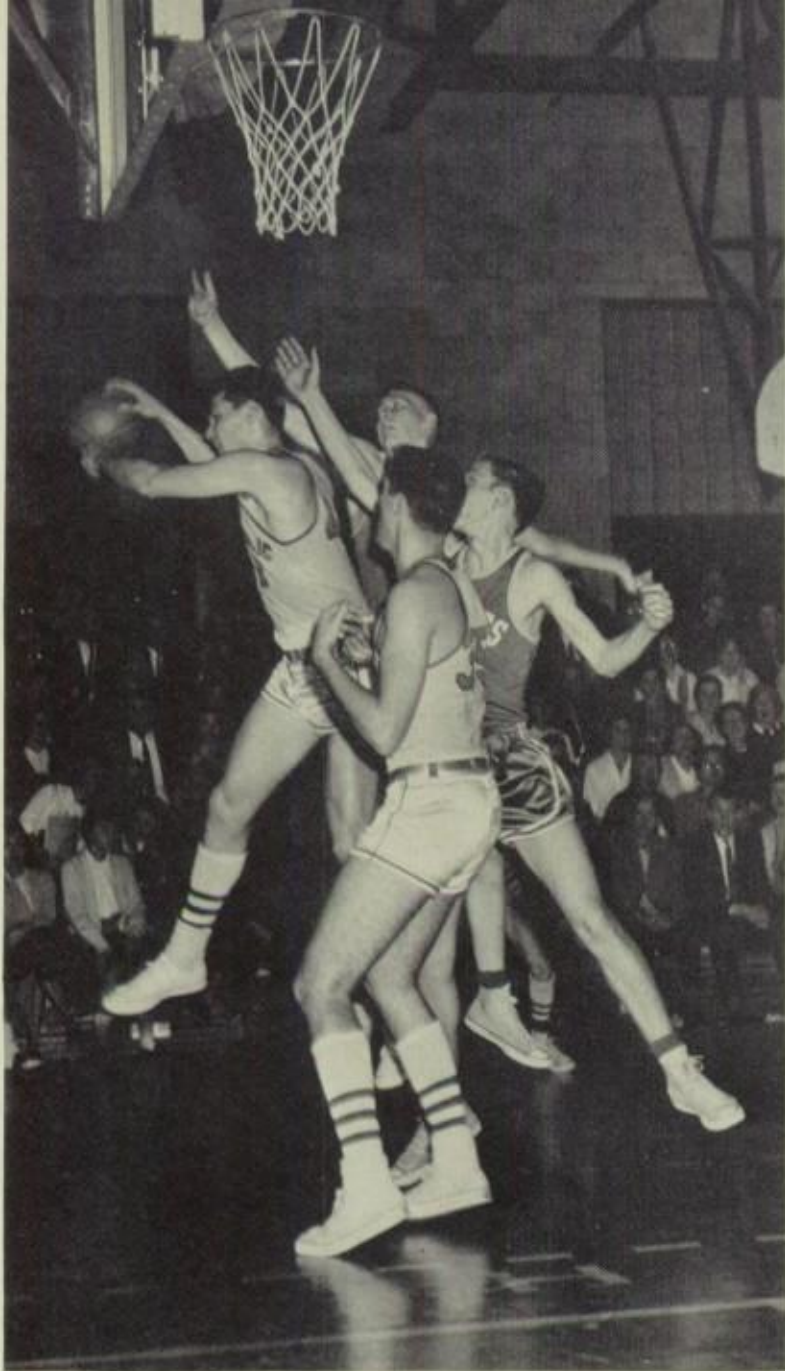

"PIROUETTE, EH DOUG?" snaps Bruce Howard, as he and Doug Wetmore tussle for possession of the ball. Mike Morris (No. 35) seems to have stomach disorder in the semi-finals match.

Tough luck---St. Paul's

"QUICK, THE REF IS COMING," relates Mary Jo White as Connie Kean "pics" her opponent. Mary Vanderploeg seems to have ideas of her own, too.

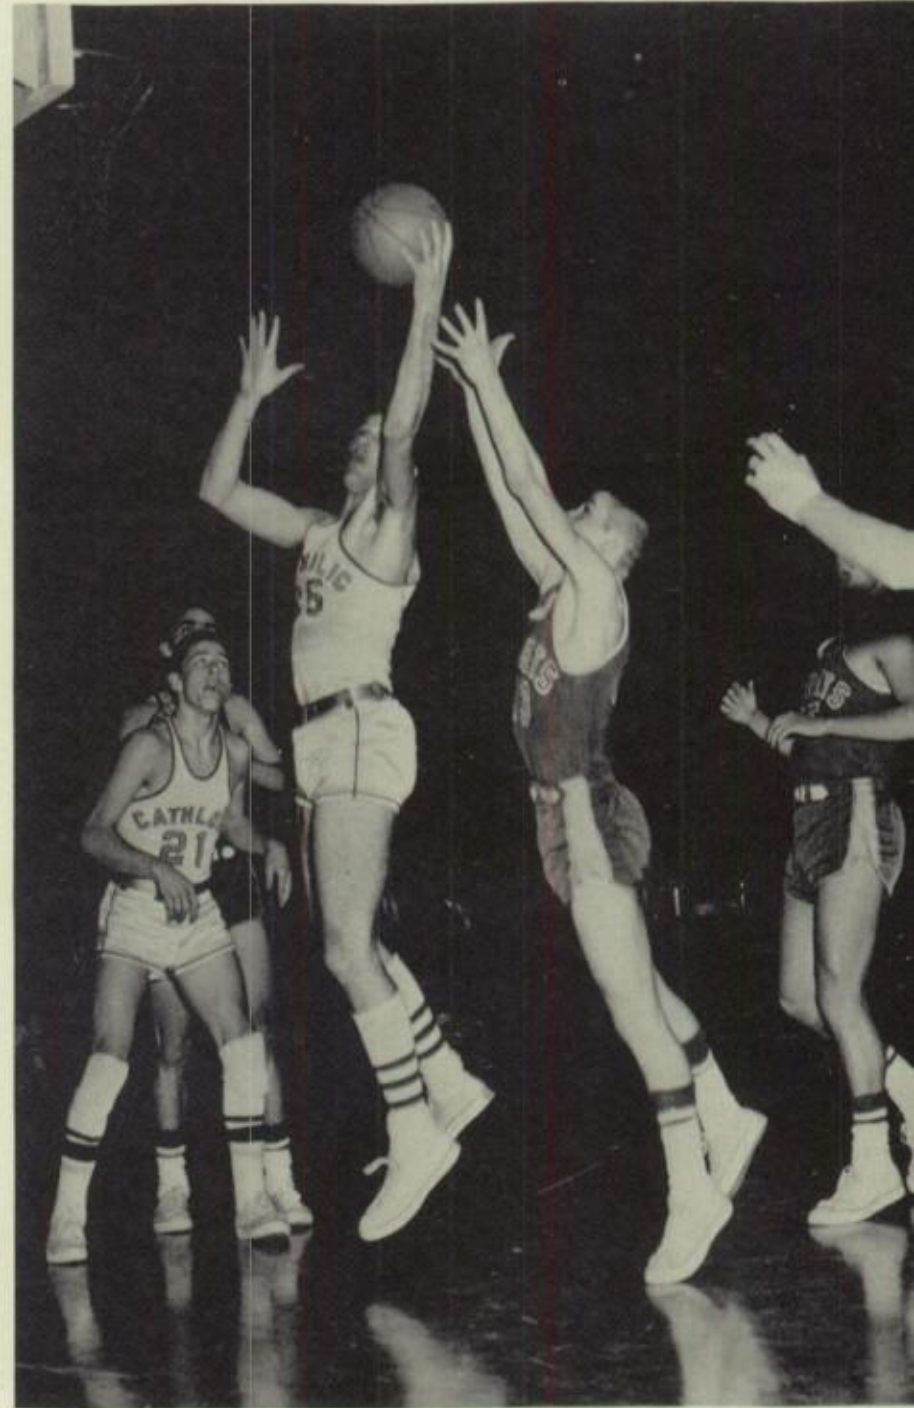

"DRIBBLING A LITTLE HIGH, UH MIKE?" All-Stater Mike Roland shows why he was a Crusader stickout, as he dominates the boards against St. Paul's. Mike Morris looks as if he wants in.

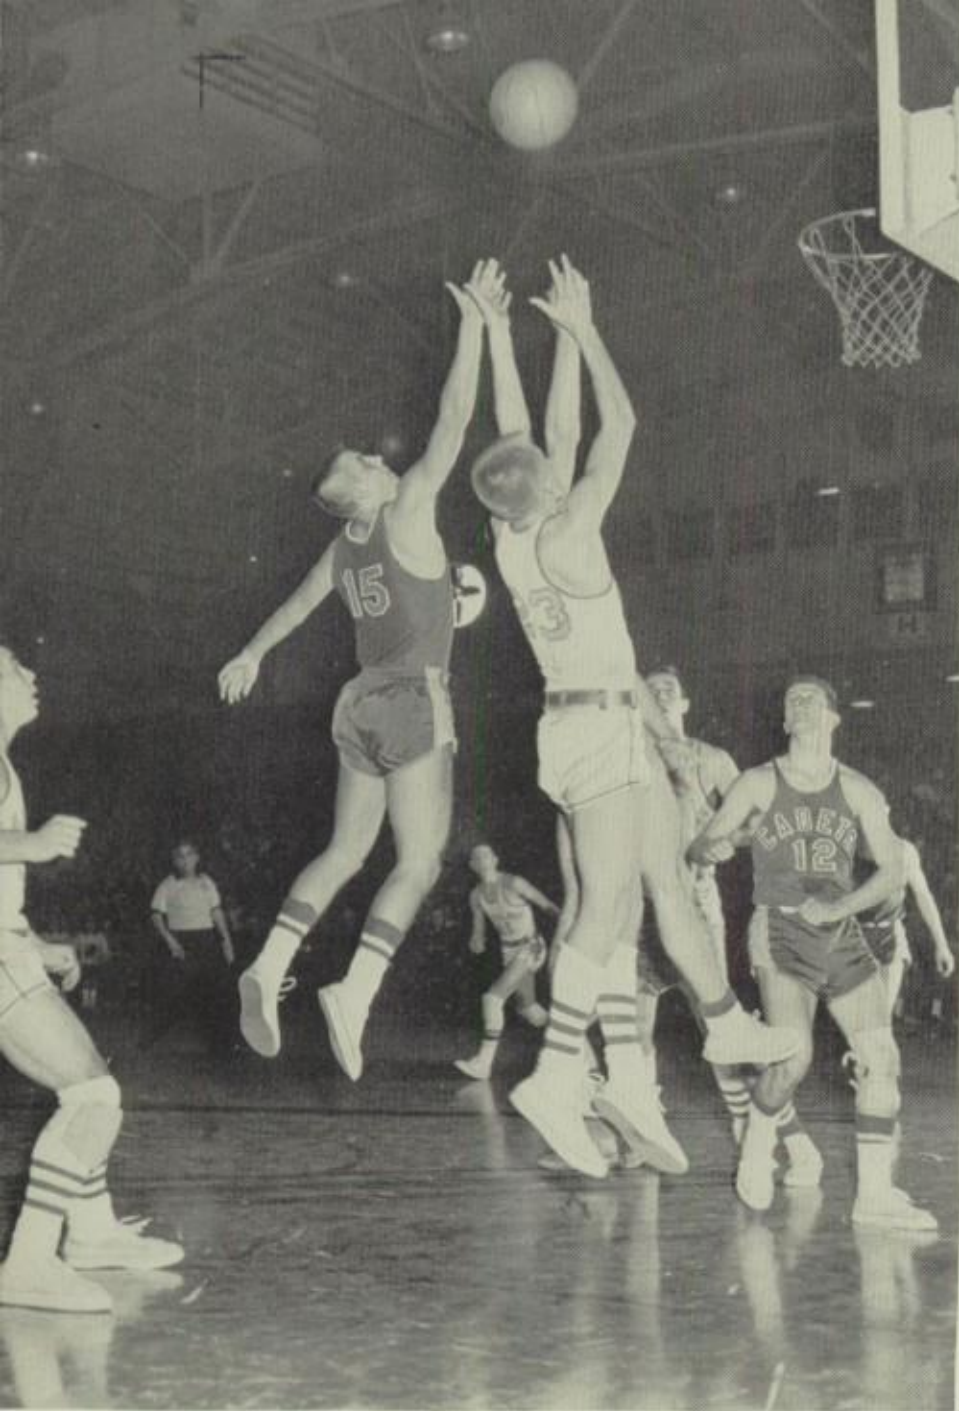

"E-E-E GIVE ME THAT BALL," yells Mary Jo White as she leaps for possession. Mary Vanderploeg (4) has a hand on it, while Connie Kean studies the situation.

A long journey

AMBIDEXTROUS, ALL-STAT-ER, MIKE MORRIS gives the Crusaders two more in their stingy game with Benedictine in the finals. Dickie Fraim attempts to score off all opposition.

"H-M-M, THREE HANDS ARE BETTER THAN TWO." Bruce Howard shows why he dominated the opposition's boards this year. This is the "much talked about" final game.

"I THINK, I'LL DROP THIS ONE IN," quips All-Tournament Julie Seluga. Miss Seluga went on to establish several records.

CATHOLIC'S FINEST, the middle distance runners, keep up steady practice, accounting for the excellent record handed in by this department.

VETERAN ERNIE COPPOLA shows Dick Moore the finer points in the art of hurling the discus.

The 1960 track season has brought to N.C.H.S. honors which have long been desired. With the exception of an early season defeat at the hands of the District Champs, Northampton, the Catholic cindermen were undefeated in Group II competition. Victories were brought home in three triangular meets, one dual meet, and a second place in the Eastern Shore tournament of eight teams. The highlight of the season came as the Catholic relay teams won two first place gold medals in the Pilot Relays. To quote the Ledger Dispatch, "Norfolk Catholic dominated Group II events."

CAPTAINS DICKIE FRAIM AND DANNY DONEGAN

Crusaders boast eight and two record

PAIR OF ZADELLS, Frank and Jimmy make a big noise with clubs.

BRUCE HOWARD, the hitter.

THE STRONG ARMS of pitchers George Desgain and Jim Madden were decisive factors in the Crusaders' drive.

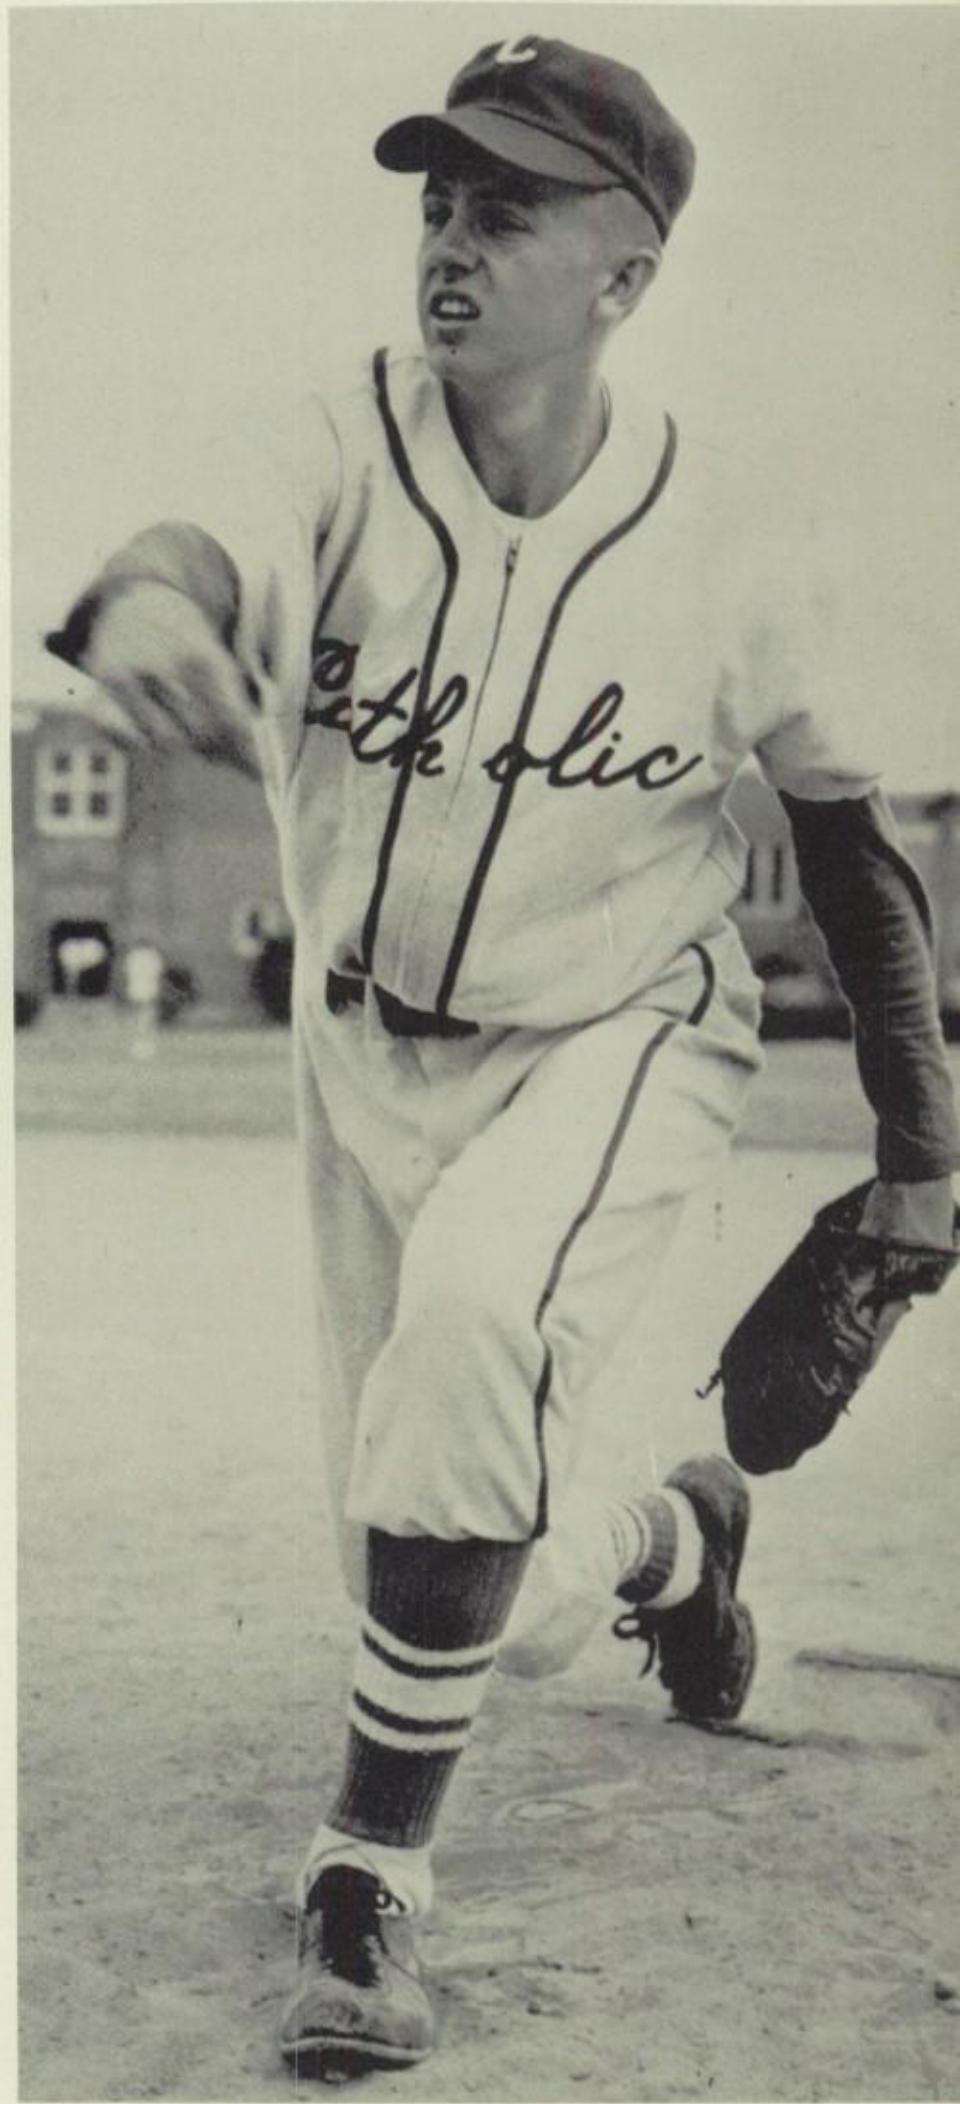

"GO AHEAD, PICK IT UP," quips Vic Kolodziej as Bill McMahon covers the sphere.

The state's best

MURDER'S ROW in the person of Jim Evans, Ralph Dowdy, Sam Fletcher, Tommy Decker, and Spike Bruno. It was their bats that sounded the shot heard around the world this spring.

BRUCE HOWARD, the pitcher.

DICKIE FRAIM, who captained our '60 State Champions, receives his trophy from departing coach Tom Hourihan.

"YES, CONNIE, THERE'S ONE FOR EACH OF YOU," says Mrs. Fitzpatrick as she awards Mary Ann Vanderploeg and Connie Kean, the leaders of our State Champion girls, their individual trophies.

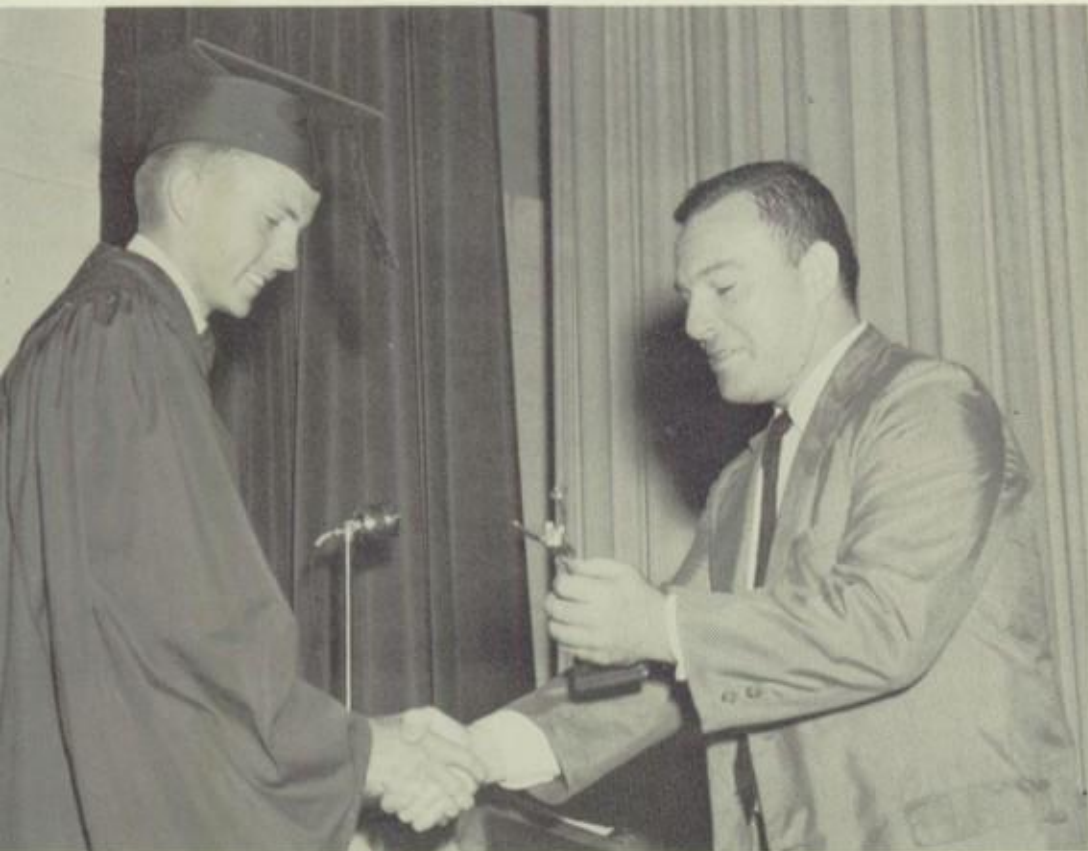

WE WERE HONORED IN HAVING BEN CARNEVALE, basketball coach of the Naval Academy, as the guest speaker at the Athletic Association's banquet for our championship basketball teams and the football players.

The Victory

CAUGHT IN ONE OF ITS FEW STATIONARY POSITIONS the speedy relay team consisting of Ernie Coppola, Mike Caprio, Gary Gutberlet, and Greg Kenneally shows off the two plaques which they brought home from Pilot Relays.

"THANKS A LOT, JUGGENOT," quips Bruce Howard as Coach Stan Jones presents Howard with the Most Valuable Player trophy for baseball.

JOE CASALE AND RALPH DOWDY, football co-captains for next season, can't decide on the proper place to wear their new monograms.

through Cooperation

In the first ten years of its existence our Norfolk Catholic High School has shown definite progress in its efforts to educate the Catholic students of Norfolk. Not the least of this progress has been in the increase in enrollment during the past decade. However, it is not so much the quantity, but the quality of the student body that has influenced the achievements of Norfolk Catholic High School. Let us not forget the people who compose a large part of our school, those who carry a great bulk of our school spirit. It is through the efforts of the underclassmen that the school functions as an efficient integral unit. It is through their enthusiasm and willingness to cooperate in school activities that the cultural and social endeavors and the sports program of our school have been a success, and it is upon their love and respect for Norfolk Catholic High School that we depend for the transmission of the ideals and traditions of our school to the underclassmen of succeeding years.

THE TRANSITION FROM LOWLY FRESHMEN to student leaders was achieved by President, Michael O'Brien; Veep., Fred Stant; and Secretary-Treasurer, Betty Ann McNeil with the firm approval of the freshman class.

CONNIE KEAN SERVES THE PUNCH to Mr. and Mrs. Scialdone at the reception for freshman parents given by the seniors to climax the orientation program.

Another first

"YOU SEE, SIR, I was just minding my business when this senior comes up to me and . . ." A freshman addresses Judge Leonard Ballback at a session of the freshman court.

"MY WHAT A SMALL HEAD you have, son." Anita Zinkl fits the freshmen with headgear for the orientation program. The first to be held at Catholic High.

WHAT TO SPIN IN THE LUNCHROOM, Mathais or Brahms, is the problem of these Sophomore officers—Paul Rankin, Vice President; Mary Wright, Secretary-Treasurer; and Dennis Roland, President.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN AND TOMMY WOOD, Norfolk Catholic's representatives to the SIPA Convention, glance at their schedule before going to the next conference on the agenda.

JOE CASALE LENDS HIS INDISPENSABLE ADMINISTRATIVE TOUCH to the decorations, while Juanita Lynch and Kenneth Reddy "slave" over the wishing well, one of the prom's many exotic touches.

WILL IT EVER BE FINISHED? Robert Matthews, Tommy Fraim and Dick Grissom seem a little apprehensive. But the rest of the committee, Frances Wysocki, Andrea Bowen, Sharon Lukinovich, and Ann Coughlin are expressing their confidence that the prom will be a sure success.

ST. MICHAEL SOLEMNLY REFLECTS THE EXPRESSION on Father Maioriello's face prior to the distribution of the class rings to next year's seniors.

DICK MOORE ANXIOUSLY WAITS FOR HIS RING as James Zadell seems to be fumbling the play.

RICHARD GRISSOM, PRESIDENT OF THE JUNIOR CLASS, welcomes two guest speakers for Career Day, one of the Student Council's major projects.

Chosen to serve

DOLORES ZINKL AND TOMMY FRAIM are still arguing over the merits of their respective candidates a week after the elections.

TOM WOOD AND MARY JO SCULLION, President and Vice-President elect of the Student Council, look ahead to greater summits of achievement next year.

THESE JUNIORS, Tom Wood, Mary Jo Scullion, Frances Wysocki and Dickie Grissom were nominated by their fellow officers to run for Student Council President and Vice-President.

BILL EWALD, CAMPAIGN MANAGER for Tom Wood shows his boss a few of the tips that brought him success in the elections.

FRANCES WYSOCKI AND DICK GRISSOM were defeated in the elections but advanced in the respect of their fellow students.

"... AND NOW, MRS. DE HEARTACHE," says M. C. Butch Christie in a takeoff on the T.V. production, "It Could Be You."

"MR. STRING BEANS," PLAYED BY MIKE BATTAGLIA, and the Captain, Spike Bruno, are just having a little fun with the "kiddies" in the Senior Class's version of the "Captain Kangaroo Show."

"LIBERACE WAS A BIG SUCCESS in the Senior day play. Gary Knapp's portrayal of the controversial performer brought forth a tremendous amount of laughter.

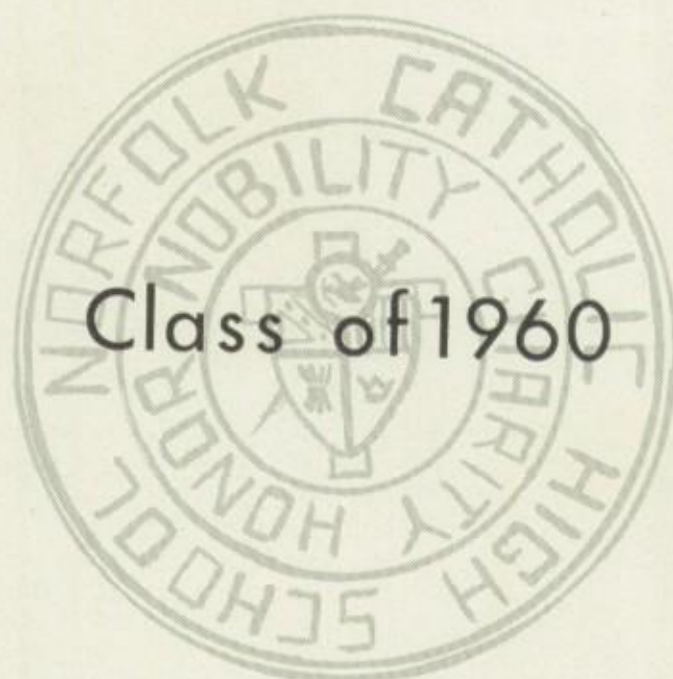

SPEAKING FOR THE SOPHOMORE CLASS, President Dennis Roland offers a toast in honor of the outgoing Senior Class.

JANICE LUSTIG AND POLLY FULFORD are among those entering the Shore Drive Inn for the Senior day luncheon.

MICHAEL CAPRIO, CLASS OF '51, the guest speaker at the annual Senior-Sophomore banquet, reminisces about the first graduating class of ten years ago.

"Nothing is little to her that feels it with great sensibility."

DO WE NOTE a look of envy on Frances Wysocki's face as she glances at John Galloway's class ring.

ANYONE FOR PUNCH? Apparently these beaux and belles have taken the suggestion. David Eastmen, Connie Supan, Kenneth Reddy, Bill Ewald, Susie Corliss, Joan Zoby and Warren Christie all seem to be having a grand time.

ROCK & ROLL IN FORM-ALS? No problem at all for the versatile students at Norfolk Catholic's prom.

THE PAUSE that refreshes.

TO HIGHLIGHT THE PROM Mary Jo Zontini crowns this year's queen Mary Jo Scullion while Mike Roland, Dick Moore and Fr. Maioriello watch with evident pride.

The following Seniors were the GOLD TASSEL GRADUATES in the 1960 class:

....with Honor

JIMMY McGROARTY, recipient of the Catholic Leadership Award, pauses profoundly for profound thoughts of the future.

"ALL IS SMILES; THERE IS A RAIN OF PRIDE" . . . as Frances Matthews, editor-in-chief of the Crusader, receives her much-deserved laurels for her editorship.

on this day

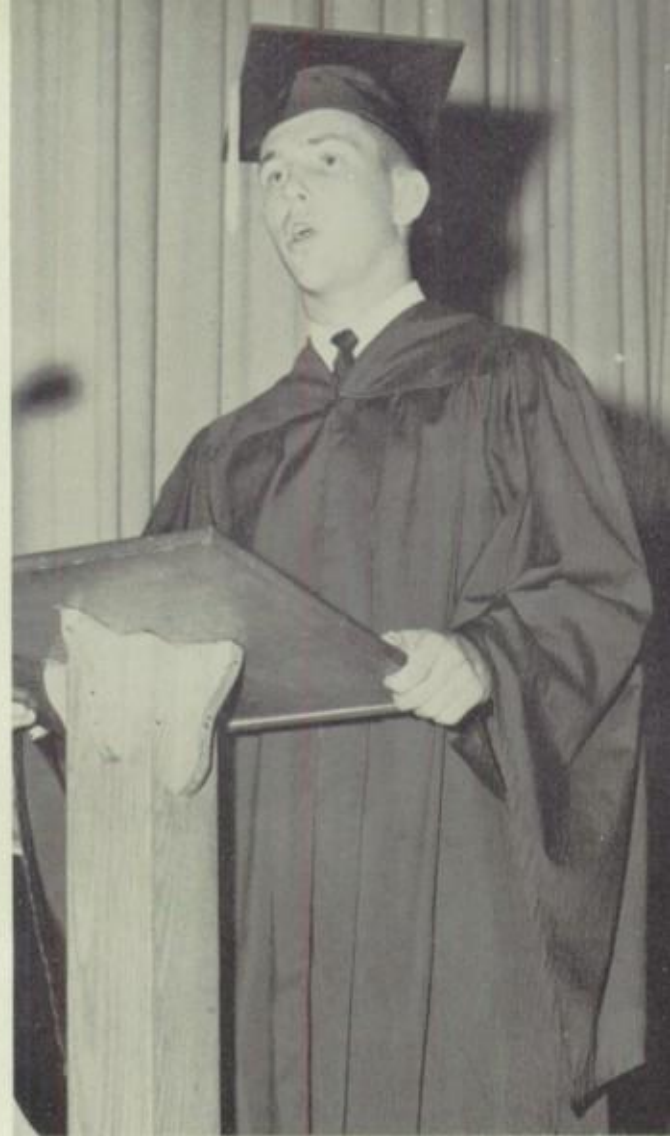

FOR THE LAST TIME AS A STUDENT,
Gary Knapp shares with us his very great talent.

regretting our departure

"M-M-M . . . NOW WHICH KNEE do I genuflect on?" thinks Pat Sullivan as she receives her diploma from His Excellency J. J. Russell, Bishop of Richmond.

To the class of 1960,

As builders of Custom Homes for families of the present and future generations, we want to wish you, the builders of the future, success and happiness in your every endeavor. Just as we strive for perfection in our materials and workmanship, it is our earnest hope, that you will look for perfection as you work toward your goal as the future builders and leaders of our Church, Government, and Industry.

Be wise, use the experience of others for its full worth; be prudent, do not waste the ability your teachers have worked to develop in you; be honest and truthful, the deceitful are never successful; be charitable, let God Almighty, when He judges the merits of your accomplishments, say, "Well done, Oh good and faithful servant, now come into the eternal House of Happiness which I have built for You."

Yours sincerely for the future,
